PREFACE

The opinions of the Court of Claims reported herein are published by authority of the provisions of Section 18 of the Court of Claims Act, 705 ILCS 505/1 et seq.

The Court of Claims has exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine the following matters: (a) all claims against the State of Illinois founded upon any law of the State, or upon any regulation thereunder by an executive or administrative officer or agency, other than claims arising under the Workers' Compensation Act or the Workers' Occupational Diseases Act, or claims for certain expenses in civil litigation, (b) all claims against the State founded upon any contract entered into with the State, (c) all claims against the State for time unjustly served in prisons of this State where the persons imprisoned shall receive a pardon from the Governor stating that such pardon is issued on the grounds of innocence of the crime for which they were imprisoned, or where the person imprisoned received a Certificate of Innocence from the Circuit Court as provided in Section 2-702 of the Code of Civil Procedure, (d) all claims against the State in cases sounding in tort, (e) all claims for recoupment made by the State against any Claimant, (f) all claims pursuant to the Line of Duty Compensation Act, (g) all claims pursuant to the Illinois National Guardsman's Compensation Act, and (h) all claims pursuant to the Crime Victims Compensation Act.

A large number of claims contained in this volume have not been reported in full due to quantity and general similarity of content. These claims have been listed according to the type of claim or disposition. The categories they fall within include: claims in which orders of awards or orders of dismissal were entered without opinions, claims based on lapsed appropriations, certain State employees' back salary claims, prisoners and inmates-missing property claims, claims in which orders and opinions of denial were entered without opinions, refund cases, medical vendor claims, Line of Duty Compensation Act claims and certain claims based on the Crime Victims Compensation Act. However, any claim which is of the nature of any of the above categories, and which also may have value as precedent, has been reported in full.

CASES ARGUED AND DETERMINED

IN THE COURT OF CLAIMS

OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS

REPORTED OPINIONS

FISCAL YEAR 2010

(July 1, 2009 thru June 30, 2010)

(No. 01-CC-4260 – Claim denied)

SHIRLEY YOUNG, Claimant, v. CHICAGO STATE UNIVERSITY, Respondent.

Opinion filed November 19, 2009

DENNIS J. KELLOGG, for Claimant

LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General (JILL OTTE, Assistant Attorney General, of counsel), for Respondent.

Negligence-Elements-Claimant must establish, by a preponderance of the evidence, the existence of a duty that Respondent owed to him, that Respondent breached that duty, and that as a proximate result of the breach Claimant suffered damages.

Negligence-Duty toward invitees-The State owes a duty of ordinary care in regards to injuries that may result as a reasonable, probable and foreseeable consequence of negligence. However, it is not the insurer of the safety of all visitors to its facilities.

Negligence-Claimant fell down stairs in a University classroom. There was no dangerous or defective condition and she failed to establish how Respondent's conduct was negligent or how it was responsible for her fall.

OPINION

STORINO, J

Claimant Shirley Young brings this claim in tort for a fractured ankle and other injuries suffered after falling down the stairway in her auditorium-style classroom at Chicago State University on June 3, 1999. Claimant asserts that her fall and related injuries occurred because Respondents, State of Illinois and Chicago State University, breached their duty to her by failing to take proper measures in keeping the stairway safe and protecting her from harm.

Claimant seeks $100,000 in damages, of which $22,000 are for medical expenses already incurred. This claim was heard before a Commissioner on March 11, 2009.

Factual Background

Claimant testified at the hearing that on June 3, 1999, she was a registered Chicago State University student attending class in lecture hall #102, Harold Washington Hall. This was her ninth or tenth class of the semester. Hall #102 was an auditorium-style classroom: there were stairs next to the walls on the far right and far left of the room, with rows of seating in the middle. Handrails were affixed to both walls. Facing the professor in the front of the room, Claimant was sitting on the right side of the room. She then went down to the front of the room and picked up an assignment. She also got one for a man with a neck-brace in one of the rows behind her, so he would not have to walk down the stairs.

She went up the stairs, handed him his assignment, and then turned around to walk down the stairs to her seat when she slipped and tumbled down the stairs, twisting and fracturing her right ankle. Subsequently, University Police were dispatched and Claimant was taken to a hospital by ambulance. Claimant did not recall where her feet were when she started tumbling, remembering only that she somehow slipped and fell.

Claimant did recall, however, that she was not holding the handrail when she fell. She testified that in the nine or ten prior classes she had traveled up and down the stairs in that room and never filed any complaints regarding the stairs because, “she did not know there was a problem.” Also, Claimant, on cross-examination, agreed that she did not see any shadows on the steps when she fell.

Claimant argues that she fell because Respondent negligently maintained the stairway. Specifically, Claimant asserts that the stairway constituted a dangerous condition because it was hard to distinguish the steps: they were all one color and material, inconsistent in depth, and were covered by shadows because the only light source was far away. This assessment of the stairway is supported by the testimony of Mitchell Masalski, a retired Chicago Police Officer who observed the hall #102 on August 14, 2002. Claimant also offered into evidence a video that Masalski made of the lecture hall in question.

Claimant states that Respondent had notice of the dangerous nature of the stairway because it was in the same condition since 1971. Claimant further notes that in the same building there is a stairway outside the classroom near the entry/exit to the building. Claimant notes that even though that stairway is of the same construction era as the stairway in question it has a gritty red reflective tape on the edges.

In its Post-Trial Brief, filed May 11, 2009, Respondent asserts that Claimant has failed to prove Respondent negligent in any way because the evidence presented at trial, specifically witness testimony and the video-tape, indicates that there was nothing unusual about the stairs. Further, Respondent asserts that it cannot be charged with actual or constructive notice of any dangerous condition regarding the stairs because, in addition to the unremarkable nature of the stairs, Claimant was the first of approximately thousands of users in 20 years to get injured on them.¹ Respondent concludes that Claimant's own actions were the proximate cause of her injuries because, among other reasons, she carelessly and negligently failed to exercise necessary caution when using the stairs.

Analysis

To state a cause of action sounding in negligence, a claimant must assert facts establishing the following: the existence of a duty that respondent owed him; the respondent breached that duty; and that as a proximate result of the breach Claimant suffered damages. Estate of Johnson by Johnson v. Condell Memorial Hosp., 119 Ill.2d 496 (1988). A person owes a duty of ordinary care to guard against injuries to others that may result as a reasonable, probable and foreseeable consequence of negligent conduct. Karas v. Strevell, 369 Ill.App.3d 884, 889 (2nd Dist.2006). However the State is not an insurer of the safety of all persons visiting its facilities. See Bahl v. State, 49 Ill.Ct.Cl. 120 (1997). Thus, Claimant must also establish that the State had either actual or constructive notice of an alleged defect or dangerous condition before recovery is allowed. Dunbar v. State, 45 Ill. Ct. Cl. 175 (1992).

Here, Claimant offers the following possible negligent conduct: the steps were all one color and material, rendering them hard to distinguish; the steps had inconsistent depths; the steps were covered by shadows because the only light source was far away. Claimant offers the video of the stairs in question in an attempt to support these assertions.

Upon reviewing the tape, nothing about the stairs' condition supports a finding that they constituted a dangerous or defective condition. All stairs usually consist of steps that are the same color. And to the extent that there is any variation in the depth of the stairs, no expert testimony was offered to support that such coloring or depth variation constituted a dangerous condition, or that the variation is significant enough for us to find that it constitutes an obvious dangerous condition. Claimant's own testimony indicates that she did not find anything wrong with the condition of the stairs until she fell on them. She had nine or ten previous classes in that room, walked up and down the stairs and never felt the need to report anything because "she did not know there was a problem."

More importantly, Claimant does not establish how the alleged negligent conduct was the proximate cause of her damages. She testified that she does not know how she fell down the stairs.

¹ The Court notes that a week after the March 11, 2009 hearing in this case, Claimant submitted a letter to the Commissioner disclosing that Claimant has now discovered possible impeachment evidence of the Respondent's witnesses on the issue of notice because he has learned of two previous falls at Chicago State University. Remarkably, counsel for the Claimant herein is representing an individual in a Worker's Compensation Claim before the Illinois Industrial Commission, who fell at Chicago State University in 2007. The incident giving rise to Claimant's claim occurred June 3, 1999, and the Complaint was filed May 7, 2001. Claimant had ample time to investigate such issues prior to the presentation of evidence in this case. Further, Claimant never requested that the proofs in this case be re-opened to present additional evidence. Accordingly, we do not consider any allegations made in Claimant's letter.

Thus, Claimant has not proved that the depth of the stairs or the fact that they were the same color is what caused her to fall. And as for the shadows, she herself admitted that she did not see any shadows when she fell. We need not conjecture how Claimant fell since it is the Claimant's burden to show how she fell and how the Respondent was negligent.

Further, since Claimant has not established what it specifically was about the stairs that caused her to fall, it is irrelevant that the stairway outside the classroom has an additional feature – the gritty red reflective tape on the edges. Unless we know what caused Claimant to fall, we do not know if the reflective tape would have made a difference. Claimant has failed to meet her burden in establishing that Respondent was negligent because she has failed to establish how Respondent's conduct was negligent or how it was responsible for her fall.

Based on the above, we find that Claimant has failed to establish by a preponderance of the evidence that Respondent was negligent. Accordingly, Claimant's claim is denied with prejudice.

(No. 02-CC-0548 – Claim dismissed)

SARAH ATWOOD (Administratrix of the estate of STEPHANIE COLLINS, deceased), Claimant, v. ILLINOIS DEPARTMENT OF CHILDREN AND FAMILY SERVICES, Respondent.

Order filed August 13, 2009

ROBERT WILSON, for Claimant

LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General (HELEN AAVIK, Assistant Attorney General, of counsel), for Respondent.

Exhaustion of Remedies- Claimant, the Administrator of the Estate of the deceased, brought suit alleging negligence, reckless disregard, and willful and wanton misconduct for the foster placement of the deceased but did not exhaust all remedies when she voluntarily elected to dismiss all claims against other known tortfeasors.

ORDER

SPRAGUE, C.J.

This cause coming to be heard on the Respondent's Motion to Dismiss the matter having been fully briefed and argued and the Court being fully advised in the premises, the Court finds the following:

The Claimant, Sarah Atwood, Administrator of the Estate of Stephanie Collins, deceased, filed the instant complaint August 24, 2001 and alleges negligence, reckless disregard and willful and wanton misconduct on the part of the Department in connection with its role in the placement of the now deceased minor Stephanie Collins ("Stephanie"), who was killed by her foster parent, Paul Morris, on August 28, 1999. Claimant further alleges that the Georgia Department of Human Resources, and a private adoption company, Adoption Services, Inc., worked in concert with the Department in placing Stephanie in the foster care of Paul Morris.

Claimant filed a wrongful death complaint in the Superior Court of Morgan County, State of Georgia, against the Georgia Department of Human Services, Adoption Services, Inc. and Paul Morris and Sheree Morris. Adoption Services, Inc., located in Georgia, conducted the home study which was relied upon in placing Stephanie in the Georgia foster home with Paul and Sheree Morris, who were residents and licensed foster parents of the State of Georgia. Pursuant to an interstate compact agreement the Department's investigative and monitoring role in the foster placement process was undertaken by the Georgia Department of Human Services which worked with, and relied upon, Adoption Services, Inc. Stephanie was placed in foster care with Paul and Sheree Morris, who resided in Georgia. Stephanie was killed by Paul Morris in their foster home located in Georgia. On May 9, 2002, Claimant voluntarily dismissed her case against the Georgia Department of Human Services, Adoption Services, Inc., Paul Morris and Sheree Morris in the Superior Court of Morgan County, State of Georgia.

DISCUSSION

Claimant may not maintain her claim against the State of Illinois in this forum when she has voluntarily elected to dismiss all claims against other known tortfeasors. The exhaustion of remedies rule is an inescapable requirement for filing an action in this forum. Asbury v. State, 50 Ill.Ct.Cl. 184, 185 (1998).

In Asbury, the claimant brought suit on behalf of his deceased daughter on the basis that the respondent had negligently returned the decedent to her natural mother, who subsequently murdered the child. This Court held that the claimant in Asbury had failed to exhaust his remedies against the deceased child's mother (and another individual who had allegedly participated in the child's murder) and therefore had failed to meet a mandatory requirement for maintaining an action in this forum. Asbury v. State, 50 Ill.Ct.Cl. at 186.

Like the claimant in Asbury, in this case Claimant has failed to exhaust her remedies as against the other known tortfeasors, namely: Paul Morris, who killed Stephanie, his wife Sheree Morris, Georgia's Department of Human Services, and the private adoption company Adoption Services, Inc. Although Claimant initially brought a claim against these other four known tortfeasors, she voluntarily dismissed that suit May 9, 2002. Claimant's voluntary dismissal did not result from settlement of her claims with any of the four other known tortfeasors. Therefore, Claimant's claim in this forum must be dismissed for failure to exhaust remedies against other known tortfeasors. Asbury v. State, 50 Ill.Ct.Cl. at 186.

Additionally, because the Claimant abandoned her claims against the other four known tortfeasors by voluntary dismissal, her complaint here should be dismissed with prejudice. Hughes v. State, 49 Ill.Ct.Cl. 56 (1997). In Hughes, the claimant brought a negligence action against the State on the basis that Scalafani had been killed in an auto accident which the claimant alleged was caused by negligent design of the road and maintenance. Hughes v. State, 49 Ill.Ct.Cl. at 57-58. Claimant initially filed a suit against the municipality, City of Chicago (the "City") asserting identical theories of liability as asserted against the State in the Court of Claims. Hughes v. State, 49 Ill.Ct.Cl. at 58. The City filed a motion for summary judgment which was granted in part and denied in part. Id. at 58. The Court granted the motion with respect to the allegation of negligent design, but denied the motion with respect to negligent maintenance. Id.

The claimant filed a voluntary dismissal of the remaining action against the City and sought to proceed against the State of Illinois in the Court of Claims. Hughes v. State, 49 Ill.Ct.Cl. at 58. This Court dismissed the claimant's claim with prejudice because the claimant chose not to exhaust the remedies as against the other known tortfeasor, the City. Hughes v. State, 49 Ill.Ct.Cl. at 60. In choosing to abandon the claim against the City, the claimant had effectively sought to circumvent the exhaustion of remedies requirement, which was not allowed and required the dismissal of their case. Id. at 60.

As in Hughes, the Claimant in the instant case has filed suit against the other known tortfeasors in Georgia and subsequently filed a voluntary dismissal of that Georgia forum case. Like the claimant in Hughes, the Claimant here seeks to proceed in the case against the State of Illinois after abandoning the alternative remedies available from the other four known tortfeasors. "The exhaustion requirement is not an option to be accepted or rejected by the Claimants. It is mandatory." Hughes v. State, 49 Ill.Ct. Cl. at 60. Because Claimant has abandoned her claim by voluntary dismissal she has failed to exhaust alternative remedies against the four other known tortfeasors. Claimant has effectively sought to circumvent the exhaustion requirement and therefore this case must be dismissed with prejudice.

Claimant also failed to petition the claims advisory board of the State of Georgia. This is an administrative remedy where an individual may petition the claims advisory board and that board will make a recommendation to the state legislature. The state legislature can follow or refuse to follow the recommendation.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

Respondent's motion to dismiss Claimant's complaint for failure to exhaust alternative remedies from other known tortfeasors is granted pursuant to 735 ILCS 5/2-619(a)(9) of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure and sections 790.60 and 790.90 of the Court of Claims Regulations, 74 Ill.Admin. Code 760, 790.

VIOLET JACKSON, Claimant, v. UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS, Respondent.

Order filed September 22, 2009

TODD A. STRONG, for Claimant
RICHARD KLAUS (Special Assistant Attorney General appointed by LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General), for Respondent.

Practice and Procedure-Summary judgment is proper if the pleadings, depositions, affidavits and other relative matters on file show that there are no genuine issues of material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.

Negligence-Burden of proof, preponderance of evidence standard- Claimant must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that a dangerous or defective condition existed, that Respondent knew or should have known of the condition, and that the condition proximately caused Claimant's injury.

Negligence-Claimant fell on a sidewalk at UIS. There was no evidence presented that established Respondent had actual or constructive knowledge of the alleged dangerous or defective condition of the sidewalk.

ORDER

STORINO, J.

This cause comes before the Court on Respondent's Motion for Summary Judgment pursuant to 735 ILCS 5/2-1005 of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure, the Court having reviewed the court file, and the Court being fully advised:

The Court finds as follows:

The University of Illinois at Springfield Board of Trustees ("Respondent") filed a Motion for Summary Judgment alleging that there are no genuine issues as to any material facts that it is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. 735 Ill. Comp. Stat. 5/2-1005 (2007). In particular, Respondent alleges that (1) there are no genuine issues of material fact regarding the existence of a dangerous or defective condition and (2) there are no genuine issues of material fact regarding the Respondent's knowledge of the dangerous or defective condition.

Claimant filed a Complaint against the University of Illinois at Springfield Board of Trustees ("the University") and the State of Illinois for a cause of action based in tort arising out of injuries she sustained on March 30, 2001, while walking upon a sidewalk located on the campus. Claimant alleges that her injuries were the proximate cause of the University's negligence in that it failed to properly operate, manage, maintain and inspect the sidewalk, and it allowed a dangerous condition to exist while failing to properly warn the public of the dangerous condition.

Summary judgment is proper if the pleadings, depositions, admissions, affidavits and other relative matters on file show that there are no genuine issues of material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. 735 ILCS 5/2-1005(c), Freeman v. State, 55 Ill. Ct. Cl. 329, 334 (2003). Once the movant has offered evidence in support of the Motion for Summary Judgment, the non-movant must present evidence that establishes that there is a material issue of fact that precludes summary judgment. Abrams v. City of Chicago, 211 Ill. 2d 251, 257, 811 N.E. 2d 670 (2004). The non-moving party cannot rely solely on the pleadings to establish that there is a material issue of fact that precludes summary judgment. Id. Summary judgment is appropriate if the plaintiff fails to establish any element of his claim. Darden v. Kuehling, 213 Ill. 2d 329, 335, 821 N.E. 2d 227 (2004).

It has been well settled that, “the State is not an insurer of Claimant’s safety.” Laughary v. State of Illinois, 52 Ill. Ct. Cl. 187 (2000) (quoting Simpson v. State, 37 Ill. Ct. Cl. 76 (1985)). To recover damages, Claimant must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that (1) a dangerous or defective condition existed, (2) that Respondent knew or should have known of this condition, and (3) that the condition caused Claimant’s injuries. Id. In the instant case, this Court shall focus on whether Respondent knew or should have known of the dangerous or defective condition because after considering the pleadings, depositions, admissions, affidavits and other relative matters on file there is a genuine issue of material fact regarding the size of the sidewalk deviation, and hence the existence of a dangerous or defective condition.

In order for Claimant to recover, she must prove that Respondent had actual or constructive notice of the defect that caused the injury. Nolan v. State, 36 Ill. Ct. Cl. 94, (1983); Bahl v. State, 49 Ill. Ct. Cl. 120 (1997). After reviewing the pleadings, depositions, admissions, affidavits and other relative matters on file in the instant case, there is no evidence that Respondent had actual or constructive knowledge of the alleged dangerous or defective condition prior to March 30, 2001. As a result, Claimant failed to establish a key element required to recover damages and Respondent is entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

1. University of Illinois at Springfield Board of Trustees’ Motion for Summary Judgment is granted.
2. Judgment is entered in favor of the Respondents, University of Illinois at Springfield Board of Trustees and the State of Illinois, and against the Claimant, Violet Jackson.

ARLA FAYE FRANCHI, Claimant, v. ILLINOIS DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION, Respondent.

Order filed February 3, 2010

LAWRENCE R. BAREZKY, for Claimant
LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General (LYNN PALMGREN, Assistant Attorney General, of counsel), for Respondent.

Negligence-Elements-Claimant must establish, by a preponderance of the evidence, that Respondent had a duty to Claimant, and the breach of that duty was the proximate cause of the injury. In this case involving a road defect, Claimant must further establish Respondent had actual or constructive notice of the defect.

Constructive Notice-Roadway defect-Factors considered in establishing constructive notice are the length of time the defect existed and its open and obvious nature. To recover for an injury the defect must be substantial and enduring.

Negligence-Claimant failed to establish that a roadway defect that caused her fall was substantial enough in size, or existed for a significant length of time, to warrant a finding of constructive notice.

ORDER

STEFFEN, J.

This matter comes before this court on the complaint of Arla Faye Franchi, Claimant and against State of Illinois, Illinois Department of Transportation, Respondent. Claimant alleges that she fell on a street, improperly maintained by Respondent, resulting in an injury and seeking damages in the amount of $100,000.00.

Claimant testified that on July 4, 2001, she and a group from her dance studio, comprised of approximately fifty, five year-old students were marching in the annual Village of Skokie 4th of July Parade. She had participated in the parade for three consecutive years prior to 2001.

Claimant was marching northwesterly on Lincoln Avenue between LeClaire and Niles Center Road. She testified that when she responded to one of the children veering off to the crowd, she fell into a depression in the street. She was bleeding from her hands and knees and had to be helped out of the street.

The day following the fall, Claimant went to the hospital where she was treated for a broken wrist. The injury was in a cast for approximately two months. Claimant further testified to experiencing pain; undergoing a regimen of physical therapy and acupuncture; and modifications to her active lifestyle during her recovery.

Claimant testified she had previously observed cracks and depressions in the roadway but that the subject imperfection was far more serious on the date of the incident. She described the hole as an egg shaped, approximately 8 to 10 inch depression. On July 10, 2001, Claimant reported the roadway condition to IDOT. She later returned to the scene of the incident and determined that no repair had been made.

She had a neighbor photograph the scene. Claimant returned to the scene again in September 2001, to re-photograph the scene. She discovered that repairs had been made to the roadway sometime prior.

Claimant argued that the Illinois Tort Immunity Act, 745 ILCS 10/3-102, should be applied in the current case. The Court of Claims has noted and the Illinois General Assembly has established that the scope of liability under the Act applies to county governments. The Illinois Tort Immunity Act does not apply to claims against the State of Illinois. Alencastro vs. State (2001) 54 Ill. Ct. Cl. 451.

The law is clear that in order to maintain a negligence claim in the Court of Claims, Claimant must establish by preponderance of the evidence that Respondent had a duty to Claimant, and that breach of the duty was the proximate cause of the injury. Freeman vs. State (2003) 55 Ill. Ct. Cl. 329. In cases involving road defects, Claimant must further establish Respondent had actual or constructive notice of the defect. Scroggins vs. State (1991) 43 Ill. Ct. Cl. 225.

Claimant contends Respondent had actual notice of the subject defect. A review of the IDOT communication center records revealed no notice had been given of the defect prior to the incident. However, the record indicates that a “Needs Survey” was performed on Lincoln Avenue in 2000 and again in May, 2001. A Needs Survey is a visual inspection of a roadway to determine its condition and to establish a budget for future maintenance. The inspection reports included the area of the incident. The Needs Survey concluded that money should be appropriated in anticipation of conditions that were developing over time in the subject area. Claimant argues that the Needs Survey’s conclusion that money should be assigned for future repairs constitutes actual notice. Claimant contends that the Survey constitutes actual notice of the roadway defect. The Needs Survey performed in this area made broad conclusions about the general condition and anticipated future condition of the roadway. The Survey conclusions did not in this case establish actual notice of the subject depression. Claimant has not established actual notice.

The factors considered in establishing constructive notice are the length of time that the road defect existed and the open and obvious nature of defect. Alsobrook vs. State (1995) 48 Ill. Ct. Cl. 205. To recover for an injury in a roadway case, the defect must be substantial and enduring. Wysopal vs. State (2000) 52 Ill. Ct. Cl. 227. In analyzing pedestrian personal injury cases involving road defects, the Court applies the same standard of law that applies to personal injury and property damage cases involving road defects. Stojentin vs. State (1999) 53 Ill. Ct. Cl. 82.

In pedestrian personal injury cases, the Court has consistently required Claimant to establish evidence of the length of time the defect existed. This court has determined constructive notice to have existed where the evidence established defects as follows: Pothole was 24 inches long, 12 inches wide, 2 inches deep and existed for at least one year prior to incident, Stojentin vs. State (1999) 53 Ill. Ct. Cl. 82; depression in roadway measured 36 inches long, 24 inches wide, 3 to 4 inches deep and existed one to four months prior to incident, Baren vs. State (1974) 30 Ill. Ct. Cl. 162; and where the crack in the roadway was established to have existed for at least four months prior to the accident, Gillespie vs. State (1966) 25 Ill. Ct. Cl. 309.

The law is clear that each case involving an allegation of constructive notice must be decided on its own facts. Bugler vs. State (1967) 26 Ill. Ct. Cl. 173. Constructive notice has been established where the condition would have been discovered through the exercise of due diligence. Eudaley vs. State (1995) 97 Ill. Ct. Cl. 89, 90. The test applied in determining constructive notice is “whether the condition by its evident nature, duration and potential harm would necessarily have come to the attention of the State”. Commercial Union Insurance Co. vs. State (1995) 47 Ill. Ct. Cl. 301.

In this case, Claimant's testimony at trial established with reasonable certainty that on the day of the incident, a depression existed in the roadway. However, Claimant has failed to present evidence to establish that the defect was substantial enough in size, or existed for a significant length of time on the date of injury, to warrant a finding of constructive notice.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that based on Claimant's failure to sustain her burden of proof, this claim is denied.

ROBERT BRUNO, et al, Claimant, v. UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS, Respondent.

Opinion filed April 14, 2009

GILBERT A. CORNFIELD, for Claimant
WILLIAM J. BRINKMAN (Special Assistant Attorney General, appointed by LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General), for Respondent.

Practice and Procedure-Summary judgment is proper if the pleadings, depositions, affidavits and other relative matters on file show that there are no genuine issues of material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.

Contracts-Breach of contract elements-Claimant must prove: the existence of a valid and enforceable contract; performance by the Claimant; a breach of the subject contract by the Respondent; and that the breach resulted in damages.

OPINION AND ORDER

STORINO, J.

Claimants Robert Bruno, Margaret A. Chaplin, John Buckmaster, James Hutchinson, Al Kagan, R. Grear Kimmel, William J. Maher, Joseph T. Miller, Jay Mittenthal, Walter A. Robinson, Todd Rusk and Mary Stuart have filed a Third Amended Complaint against the Respondent, Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois. The Third Amended Complaint alleges breach of their employment contracts when Respondent failed to pay a portion of Claimants' annual salary due to a pay date change implemented by Respondent.

In answer to Claimant's Third Amended Complaint, Respondent filed a Combined Motion to Dismiss and Motion for Summary Judgment. In its Motion to Dismiss, Respondent argues that Claimant's Complaint fails to state a cause of action because it fails to set forth facts demonstrating existence of a contract, the terms of the contract, breach thereof and damages cause by breach. In its Motion for Summary Judgment, Respondent attaches an affidavit and numerous verified exhibits. Respondent asserts that summary judgment should be granted in its favor because Claimants' employment agreements expressly allow Respondent to prorate Claimants' salaries and because Claimants were paid for every day worked for the pay periods encompassing their claim.

For the reasons set forth herein, Respondent's Motion for Summary Judgment is granted.

Facts

Claimants are academic employees of the University of Illinois and entered into respective annual employment contracts in the form of a document titled, "Notice of Appointment," ("NOA"). Claimants were academic employees for the 2002/2003 academic year and were all continuing academic employees for the 2003/2004 academic year. Pursuant to Claimants' NOAs, for both academic years, Claimants were to receive 12 monthly payments of their annual salaries.

Beginning in September 2003, Respondent changed its pay date from the 21st to the 16th of each month for academic employees. The pay date change resulted in a shortened contract year for all academic employees of Respondent, by a period of approximately one week, for the 2003/2004 academic year. Specifically, the 2003/2004 academic year commenced on August 21, 2003 and ended August 15, 2004, whereas the previous 2002/2003 academic year commenced on August 21, 2002 and ended August 20, 2003. All continuing 12-month academic employees, which included all of Claimants, were paid for every day worked for both contract years.

Due to the shortened contract year for 2003/2004, the first paycheck for that academic year was impacted by the shortened contract year and was prorated to reflect work for the period from August 21, 2003 to September 15, 2003. Claimants were notified of the pay date change and the prorated paycheck pursuant to an email issued by Respondent's Associate Provost and Director of Human Resources on April 14, 2003. In addition, on April 14, 2003, Respondent posted a document on its website notifying its academic employees of the pay date change, the shortened contract year for 2003/2004, and the prorated paycheck for continuing 12-month academic employees.

Claimants subsequently filed suit in this Court claiming that Respondent breached their employment contracts, namely their NOAs. Claimants' present Third Amended Complaint alleges, that although Claimants "will have earned full payment of their salary for the 2002/2003 academic year, pursuant to their annual employment contract, have not been paid ¼ of the 1/12 of their annual salary." Claimants seek reimbursement of this approximate one week deficiency and seek interest.

Respondent has responded to Claimants' Third Amended Complaint with a Combined Motion to Dismiss and Motion for Summary Judgment. Among other exhibits attached to Respondent's Motion, Respondent has attached the 2002/2003 and 2003/2004 NOAs and an affidavit of Respondent's Associate Provost and Director of Human Resources. Respondent asks this Court to either dismiss Claimants' Third Amended Complaint for failure to properly state a claim or, in the alternative, asks that this Court consider the exhibits attached to its motion and enter summary judgment in its favor. In response to Respondent's Motion, Claimant responded with a specific denial and responsive memorandum essentially standing on the allegations of their Third Amended Complaint. However, in their response, Claimants did admit to the authenticity of the 2002/2003 and 2003/2004 NOAs.

Standard of Review

Section 2-1005 of the Illinois Code of Civil Procedure provides judgment "shall be rendered without delay if the pleadings, depositions, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law." 735 ILCS S/2-1005(c). In response to a motion for summary judgment, it is the plaintiff's responsibility to show all facts in evidence that plaintiff believes will satisfy his/her burden of proof. Coleman v. Verson Allsteel Press Co., 64 Ill.App.3d 974, 979, 382 N.E.2d 36, 40 (1st Dist. 1978). If the plaintiff fails to establish any element of the cause of action, summary judgment for the defendant is proper. Bagent v. Blessing Care Corp., 862 N.E.2d 985,991 (Ill. 2007) (citations omitted).

Summary judgment is encouraged under Illinois law to aid the expeditious disposition of a lawsuit. Purtill v. Hess, 111 Ill. 2d 229, 240, 95 Ill. Dec. 305, 409 N.E.2d 867 (1986). A motion for summary judgment should be granted only if no genuine issue exists as to any material fact and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Id. Although it is a drastic means of disposing of litigation, summary judgment should be allowed when the right of the moving party is clear and free from doubt. Quality Lighting, Inc. v. Benjiman, 227 Ill. App. 3d 880, 883-884, 592 N.E.2d 377, 169 Ill. Dec. 890 (1992), Gatlin v. Ruder, 137 Ill. 2d 284, 560 N.E.2d 586, 148 Ill. Dec. 188 (1990).

Legal Analysis

Illinois law is clear that in order to prevail on a claim for breach of contract, Claimants must show: (1) the existence of a valid and enforceable contract; (2) performance by the Claimants; (3) a breach of the subject contract by the Respondent; and (4) that the Respondent's breach resulted in damages. Unterschuetz v. City of Chicago, 346 Ill. App. 3d 65 (1st Dist. 2004). Claimants' action fails for the unrefuted affidavit and NOAs attached to Respondent's Motion clearly indicate that Claimants are unable to establish a breach by Respondent or resultant damages. Accordingly, there is no triable issue of fact, and summary judgment is appropriate.

Claimants' NOAs specifically provide that employees are paid an "annual rate" representing the "gross annual compensation of the appointee for services required during a fully appointment year period (academic year, or 12 months, as the case may be), whether payable in the form of salary earnings, purchases of annuity contracts, or in any other manner authorized by law." The NOAs also allow for Respondent to adjust an employee's salary and state specifically that "[a]djustments to salary and changes to other conditions of employment may be communicated electronically." Based upon the plain language of the contract at issue Respondent was granted the authority pursuant to the terms of the NOA to adjust Claimants' salary via electronic notice. The facts are unrefuted that such electronic notification was provided to Claimants pursuant to the Respondent's website notification and email issued by Respondent's Associate Provost and Director of Human Resources on April 14, 2003. Accordingly, Claimant's can not establish a breach of the NOA and there is no issue of fact for trial in that regard.

Although this Court need not look beyond Claimants' inability to establish a breach of contract, this Court also notes that no issue of fact exists with respect to damages. The affidavit of Respondent's Associate Provost and Director of Human Resources attests that Claimants were paid for every day worked. Claimants have responded to Respondent's attestation with nothing other than the reference to its Third Amended Complaint. This alone is not enough to withstand Respondent's motion for summary judgment. With respect to motions for summary judgment, Illinois law is clear that when a defendant requests summary judgment, the plaintiff need not establish his case as he would at trial, but he must present some factual basis that would arguably entitle him to judgment. Rotzoll v. Overhead Door Corp., 289 Ill. App. 3d 410, 418, 681 N.E.2d 156, 161, 224 Ill. Dec. 174 (4th Dist. 1997); citing Malone v. American Cyanamid Co., 271 Ill. App. 3d 843, 845-46, 649 N.E.2d 493, 495 (4th Dist. 1995). If a defendant supplies sworn facts that, if uncontradicted, warrant judgment in its favor as a matter of law, a plaintiff may not rest on his pleadings to create a genuine issue of material fact. Carruthers v. B.C. Christopher and Co., 57 Ill. 2d 376, 380, 313 N.E.2d 457, 459 (1974). Where the moving party's affidavits stand uncontradicted, the facts contained therein must be accepted as true and, therefore, the failure to oppose a summary judgment motion supported by affidavits by filing counter affidavits in response is frequently fatal. Id. at 381; Rotzoll, 289 Ill. App. 3d at 418. Accordingly, Respondents are entitled to summary judgment with respect to Claimants' claim for breach of contract.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

Respondent's Motion for Summary Judgment is granted and Claimants' Third Amended Complaint is hereby dismissed with prejudice. Respondents' Motion to Dismiss is denied as moot.

Respondent.

Order filed May 14, 2010

RICHARD J. WHITNEY, for Claimant
DEBORAH J. NELSON (Special Assistant Attorney General, appointed by LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General), for Respondent.

Practice and Procedure-Summary judgment is proper if the pleadings, depositions, affidavits and other relative matters on file show that there are no genuine issues of material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.

Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Practices Act-To establish a violation of the Act, Claimant must prove: Respondent committed a deceptive act, such as the misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact; Respondent intended to induce Claimant's reliance on the deception; and the deception occurred in a course of conduct involving trade or commerce.

ORDER

BIRNBAUM, J.

This matter is before the Court on Respondent's Motion for Summary Judgment. Claimant filed a petition seeking damages for breach of contract and consumer fraud, pursuant to the Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act, 815 ILCS 505/1, et seq. ("Act").

Claimant enrolled in the MEDPREP program in the fall of 1999. MEDPREP is a program offered by Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Claimant was enrolled in the MEDPREP program for two academic years, leaving the program following the spring 2001 semester. Claimant alleges that Respondent breached its "oral" contract with Claimant by advertising the MEDPREP Program as a service to assist students in the preparation for careers in medicine or dentistry, and then deceptively encouraged Claimant to continue in the MEDPREP Program in the hopes that she would perform in a manner that would increase her chances of being accepted into a medical school. Claimant also alleges that her denial of admission to SIU School of Medicine, on the basis that she was an out-of-state resident, was an additional breach of Respondent's contract with her.

Respondent has filed a Motion for Summary Judgment arguing that Claimant cannot establish the elements of a breach of contract claim and that Claimant cannot establish the essential elements of a cause of action under the Act. Claimant has responded that there remain factual issues that preclude summary judgment.

First addressing the breach of contract claim, Respondent contends that Claimant cannot establish that she met all required conditions of any alleged contract with the university. Specifically, Respondent argues that Claimant "cannot establish that she met all conditions required of her," and claims that it has presented “uncontroverted evidence” regarding a list of a variety of factual accounts about Claimant’s academic performance, meetings relating thereto, and the residency requirement for acceptance into medical school.

Claimant responds that the reasons behind her academic evaluations are that “Respondent itself undermined Claimant’s ability to boost her academic performance in the sciences by virtue of the conduct of professors Evelyn Jackson and Shirley McGlinn, ... contrary to the express purposes of the MEDPREP program and its promise of providing a ‘supportive’ environment’ for disadvantaged students. ... Thus, the alleged failure of Claimant to fulfill the requirements of her contract was itself a consequence of a prior breach by Respondent.” In the absence of evidence of bias, conflict of interest or arbitrary and capricious conduct on the part of a teaching institution or its academics, courts have little business substituting their judgment for that of the educational and academic professionals. Tanner v. The Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois, 43 Ill.Ct.Cl.12 (1989).

This Court discussed the nature of the student/educational institution contractual relationship in Bulloch v. State, 54 Ill.Ct.Cl. 292, 294 (2002), stating:

“That our evaluation of an academic decision arises as a legal determination of whether or not a breach of contract was committed does not alter this deference. Quite the contrary. The educational contract between the student and the educational institution inherently and implicitly adopts the academic standards of the institution — including subjective or judgmental standards.”

That, indeed, is a critical element of the student’s contractual bargain with the institution: he or she agrees to be judged academically according to the prevailing (or duly established) standards of academic performance. Among other things, the application and enforcement of those academic standards are one of the underlying premises of higher education programs that maintain the value of the degree or certificate that the student agrees to earn. Thus the court enforces the parties’ educational bargain by upholding the academic standards set by the academic professionals.

In this case, Claimant alleges that Respondent somehow failed to hold up its end of the bargain when the Student Progress Committee (SPC) gave her a rating of “Recommended with Reservations” on the basis that she had “not shown sustained academic performance over a period of time.” As set forth above, such determinations are subjective by nature and this Court is reluctant to substitute an institution’s judgment with its own.

Claimant provides deposition testimony of Claimant and Dr. Harold Bardo, MEDPREP Director, regarding alleged conversations that took place between them. These conversations are the basis of Claimant’s breach of oral contract allegations. It is evident that Claimant has a different recollection than Dr. Bardo regarding these alleged conversations. Even viewing this evidence in the light most favorable to Claimant, she cannot establish that there was a meeting of the minds. Claimant has the burden of showing that there was a meeting of the minds in order to establish that a contract existed. In Weidmann v. State, 57 Ill.Ct.Cl. 209 (2005), this Court considered whether an alleged oral contract to reinstate a medical student to the University of Illinois College of Medicine was enforceable noting, “[e]ven if claimant was able to establish that some kind of offer was indeed made, she also had the burden of proving a meeting of the minds regarding the terms of the offer. What is required to establish a meeting of the minds is proof of the intent of two parties to agree on the terms of the contract,” citing Vandevier v. Mulay Plastics, Inc., 135 Ill. App. 3d 787, 482 N.E.2d 377 (1st Dist., 1985). “Where it appears that the language used of the terms proposed is understood differently by the parties, there is no meeting of the minds and no contract exists between the parties.” Id.

This absence of a meeting of the minds bears particularly on any alleged promises made by Dr. Bardo regarding residency requirements. Specifically, Claimant alleges that she had a conversation with Dr. Bardo during which he told her that being enrolled in the MEDPREP program for the spring session automatically fulfilled residency requirements for SIU School of Medicine eligibility and acceptance. Dr. Bardo denies making any such representations to Claimant. Claimant’s testimony to the contrary is the only evidence that such a promise was made. This is insufficient to establish a breach of contract, given the policies set forth by Respondent and deposition testimony of Dr. Bardo and other university officials.

Summary judgment should be granted when the pleadings, depositions, and admissions on file, together with any affidavits, if any, when viewed in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact, and the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. 735 ILCS 5/2-1005(c); Jensen v. Bayer AG 372 Ill. App. 3d 682, 862 N.E.2d 1091 (1st Dist., 2007). Viewing the facts in the light most favorable to Claimant, she cannot produce evidence that there was any express or implied contract with Respondent that guaranteed a more favorable recommendation from the SPC or that she would necessarily be eligible for the School of Medicine’s Alliance Program. Accordingly, Respondent’s Motion for Summary Judgment as to the breach of contract claim is GRANTED.

Respondent next argues that Claimant cannot establish the elements for the cause of action under the Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Practices Act. In order to establish a violation under the Act, Claimant must establish that (1) Respondent committed a deceptive act, such as the misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact, (2) Respondent intended to induce Claimant’s reliance on the deception, and (3) the deception occurred in a course of conduct involving trade or commerce. Brody v. Finch University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School, 298 Ill. App. 3d 146, 698 N.E.2d 257 (2nd Dist., 1998).

Claimant alleges that she was induced to participate in a program that ultimately failed her because she did not gain admission to medical school. However, at no time does Respondent guarantee that Claimant will be accepted to medical school. The evidence provided by Claimant shows that Respondent indicated certain steps could be taken by Claimant to increase her chances of admission. Again, viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to Claimant, she cannot establish the first two prongs required to show violation of the Act.

Accordingly, Respondent’s Motion for Summary Judgment is GRANTED.

Contracts—definition of good faith. Good faith between contracting parties requires one vested with contractual discretion to exercise it reasonably and not arbitrarily, and in good faith, which is a subjective standard to be determined by the facts in each case, implies honest, lawful intent and is the condition of acting without knowledge of fraud and without intent to assist in a fraudulent or otherwise unlawful scheme.

Same—party seeking to enforce contract has burden of proving substantial compliance. The party seeking to enforce a contract has the burden of proving that he or she has substantially complied with all material terms of the agreement.

Same—Special Education District made good faith efforts to meet requirements for reimbursement of student's expenses for special education by completing and submitting the required form—award granted. Subject to the lapsed appropriation amount, the Claimant was entitled to the full amount due from the State notwithstanding that some of the requested information was omitted in the initial application.

Required notice to party providing special education services. A procedure in administrative hearings must be reasonably calculated to apprise interested parties of the contemplated action and to afford the interested parties an opportunity to present their objections.

Contracts—breach of contract awards are limited so as not to exceed appropriated or lapsed funds. In breach of contract claims it is the Court of Claims' policy to limit awards so as not to exceed the amount of appropriated or lapsed funds with which payment could have been made, since to do otherwise would be tantamount to making a deficiency appropriation.

Appropriation of State Funds—appropriation for governmental operations is constitutional prerogative of General Assembly. The appropriation of State funds for governmental operations is the constitutional prerogative of the General Assembly, and it is the Court of Claims' duty to uphold that process and advise the General Assembly.

Lapsed Appropriations—breach of reimbursement contract. In a breach of reimbursement contract claim, the Court is constrained by the amount of the appropriation which has lapsed.

OPINION

NATURE OF CASE

The Complaint is in the nature of a contract action. On May 30, 2002, Claimant filed an Application for Approval of Private Residential Placement Room and Board Reimbursement (Form 34-37) with the Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) to recover costs expended for a special education student's placement at a private residential school, Chaddock. On November 14, 2002, Claimant received notice from the Respondent that the Form 34-37 application for reimbursement had been denied for missing information.

On April 6, 2004, Claimant, Four Rivers Special Education District, filed a Complaint before this Court for $49,510.80. Claimant prayed for reimbursement of funds expended for private placement for room and board of a student as a lapsed appropriation. The Respondent subsequently filed a Motion to Dismiss stating that the claim should be dismissed due to the Claimant's failure to submit a completed application for reimbursement in accordance with regulations. The Respondent included a report prepared by the Illinois State Board of Education in its investigation of this claim. However, this Report did not address lapsed appropriation questions therein. This court denied the Respondent's Motion to Dismiss. The lapsed appropriation issue was not specifically addressed in the Court's Order, but we must assume that it remains an issue in this case. A hearing on this Complaint was conducted before a Court of Claims Commissioner on March 13, 2007.

ISSUES PRESENTED FOR REVIEW

1. Whether the Form 34-37 submitted by Claimant on May 30, 2002, seeking private residential placement room and board reimbursement contained sufficient information to comply with 105 ILCS 56/14-7.02, 23 Illinois Administrative Code § 226.330, and the instructions set forth on the Form 34-37 in order to be approved as submitted?
2. Whether Respondent, Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE), complied with the constitutional requirements of procedural due process in its review of the Form 34-37 submitted by Claimant on May 30, 2002, and issuance of a denial letter on November 14, 2002 without providing the Claimant with written Notice of Deficiencies in the application and the opportunity to cure alleged deficiencies in the Form 34-37?
3. Whether and to what extent appropriated funds were available to reimburse the Claimant for a lapsed appropriation?

STATEMENT OF FACTS

The parties stipulated to the basic facts and exhibits that provide the basis for this claim. Four Rivers Special Education District (hereinafter also referred to as "Four Rivers") is a special education cooperative that assists about twenty school districts in west-central Illinois by providing special education to students. Jacksonville School District #117 is one of the Four Rivers member school districts. If a student's Individual Education Program (IEP) requires residential placement, Four Rivers locates an appropriate residential facility that will fulfill the student's IEP.

This matter involves a special education student attending Jacksonville School District #117. After several years, it became evident that his increasing behavior difficulties required a more restrictive placement to meet his needs. During the 2001/2002 school year he was placed in the Four Rivers Garrison School for a severe behavior disorder. During that school year, and prior to May 30, 2002, an IEP meeting was held to decide the student's needs, services, and placement. The IEP establishes goals and objectives for a student to improve his education and behavior through appropriate services. The IEP team decided the student's educational placement should be in a residential facility. Chaddock School, a residential facility with 24-hour supervision, accepted the student. The student began attending Chaddock during the Summer of 2002 and continued during the 2002/2003 school year.

Relevant sections of 105 ILCS 5/14-7.02 state that the school district in which the child resides shall pay the cost of tuition for special education services outside of those provided by the district. The school district is eligible for reimbursement from the State after the State Board of Education approves the claim. Pursuant to the stipulation of the parties, the ISBE is "the State of Illinois agency authorized to reimburse resident school districts for private residential school tuition as a result of the placement of special education students pursuant to 105 ILCS 5/14-7.02." The parties also stipulated that ISBE Form 34-37 is the proper form to be completed for private residential school tuition reimbursement pursuant to 105 ILCS 5/1407.02.

When Four Rivers places a student in a residential facility, a Form 34-37 is submitted to the ISBE for approval of room and board expense reimbursement. The original Form 34-37 for reimbursement on the student's placement at the Chaddock facility was submitted by Four Rivers to the ISBE on May 30, 2002. Reimbursement for the student's placement was requested before the summer session began in July 2002. The student attended Chaddock during the summer of 2002, and continued through the next regularly scheduled fall semester of the 2002/2003 school year. On November 14, 2002, Claimant received a letter from the ISBE Operations Consultant for Funding and Disbursements, Gail R. Lehmann. The letter stated that "the application was reviewed and was found to be missing several pieces of vital information" and that the "file had been closed." No description or report of the omitted "vital information" was included.

The evidence shows that during the period after Claimant submitted its Form 34-37 and before the November 14, 2002 denial ISBE letter was received, Gail Lehmann of the ISBE contacted both Kathy Bader and Helen Klosterman of Four Rivers by telephone seeking additional information. Bader is an administrative secretary at Four Rivers. Her duties do not require her to provide information for Form 34-37 applications. "The most [she] would have ever done on one would be to type it." During this period Bader had "at least two" conversations with Lehmann about the Form 34-37 concerning the student. The telephone conversations acknowledged that Lehmann had received the Form 34-37, and that Lehmann was also requesting more information. Bader subsequently spoke with the Four Rivers Director, Dr. Donald Aubry, regarding the ISBE request. Four Rivers did not possess the information that Lehmann requested. Bader then contacted Jacksonville School District #117 Special Services Director Helen Klosterman about the information Lehmann had requested. Bader did not recall any deadline dates given by Lehmann for submitting the requested information on the student. Furthermore, Bader had no recollection about the specific information Lehmann had requested to supplement Claimant's Form 34-37. Additionally, Bader recorded no information in her work journals regarding any discussion with Lehmann.

Further, Lehmann also directly contacted Helen Klosterman by telephone to request information on the student during the period after the Claimant's Form 34-37 was submitted and before the November 14, 2002 denial letter was received. Klosterman only remembers one conversation and does not recall the details. Klosterman does "not remember what specifically was asked," but believes she would have told her secretaries to find requested information "and get that piece of information sent." Klosterman does not recall any discussion that the failure to submit any supplemental documentation for the Form 34-37 would result in the loss of any funding. Also, Klosterman does not remember any specific deadlines or final dates for submitting supplemental material. She received no other letter or written communication about the Form 34-37 prior to the November 14, 2002 ISBE denial letter. Klosterman remembers no specific conversations with Kathy Bader regarding the student's Form 34-37. Klosterman believes that "if [Lehmann] would have asked for specifics, they would have been sent on."

After the receipt of the November 14, 2002 ISBE denial letter, the Claimant submitted a second Form 34-37 to the ISBE which was received on February 14, 2003. In addition, Four Rivers' Klosterman wrote a letter to Lehmann explaining the "many unusual circumstances" that led up to alleged deficiencies in Claimant's Form 34-37 dated May 30, 2002. Klosterman also attached six pages of details regarding the student's behavior.

When the February 14, 2003 Form 34-37 was subsequently submitted, Lehmann was no longer reviewing applications at ISBE. Rather, Charles Seybold had reassumed his position with the ISBE as the reviewer of Forms 34-37. Seybold was hired by the ISBE in 1991 as a behavior disorder specialist coordinating the private residential placement process. Seybold had conducted that process for approximately five or six years, before he was transferred to another division of the ISBE. In approximately late 2002 or early 2003, he was transferred back to coordinate the private residential placement process. When Seybold evaluated a Form 34-37 for reimbursement, he testified that it was his practice to "read everything that's submitted to [him]." He would consider all information provided by the applicant as part of the Form 34-37.

In addition to considering all information submitted, Seybold's process for alerting schools of deficiencies in their application was markedly different from Lehmann's. On this point, it is noted that there are no official rules which set out a procedure that examiners must follow in reviewing the submitted forms. The process is something that "each person establishes for themselves." For example, Lehmann reviewed the application, made some phone calls to the applicant, and then denied the application some six months later with no further follow-up or notice. On the other hand, Seybold would "pick up the phone immediately and make contact with the district and with the contact person and indicate there was a problem with their application." He would try to work the difficulties out over the telephone. If it could not be worked out "then [he] would send a letter of denial specifically addressing the areas of deficiency" noted in the phone conversation. He would ask the contact persons to submit the necessary material in the next "week or two" so that approval could be granted. If he did "not get a response for a period of time, then [he] would follow it up with a letter of denial specifying the deficiencies in the application." However, Seybold testified that "none of this is in the code." It is just a process that each person "establishes for themselves."

On March 20, 2003, Mr. Seybold sent a letter to Claimant stating that the February 14, 2003 Form 34-37 had been approved, but that reimbursement for the student's private residential room and board would only be granted retroactive to February 14, 2003 through September 30, 2003. This period was retroactive to the date of the second application, but reimbursement retroactive to May 30, 2002 as requested in the initial Form 34-37 application was denied in accordance with the decision of Respondent's Lehmann. Accordingly, although Four Rivers Special Education District provided special education to the student, beginning on May 30, 2002, the Four Rivers Education District was not reimbursed for this period.

ARGUMENT

1. Whether the Claimant's May 30, 2002 Form 34-37 was legally sufficient to gain private residential placement room and board reimbursement to the Claimant?

The evidence shows that the sufficiency of Claimant's Form 34-37 is governed by the instructions contained in the ISBE Form 34-37, the provisions of 105 ILCS 5/14-7.02, and the provisions of 23 Illinois Administrative Code §226.330. Reviewer Gail Lehmann had no other authority to consult in determining whether Claimant's May 30, 2002 Form 34-37 was complete.

According to Respondent's witness Seybold, possible deficiencies of Claimant's May 30, 2002 Form 34-37 may have included that the Form 34-37 did not contain information concerning the student's educational history, non-educational or social history, physical health, identified issues or concerns, psychological health or emotional health, and the student's current levels of educational performance. ("Required Categories") However, Gail Lehmann, who did not testify, was the ISBE agent who officially reviewed and later denied Claimant's Form 34-37 of May 30, 2002. Therefore, Seybold's theories of Form 34-37 deficiencies may not necessarily reflect the actual reasons for which Lehmann denied the application. There is no written record of the information Lehmann requested from Four Rivers to address the alleged deficiencies and supplement the Claimant's May 30, 2002 Form 34-37. Lehmann only requested this information by telephone. Claimant never received a letter, or any writing that specified what additional information was required. Moreover, no internal notes, memoranda or documents were made by Lehmann, Bader, or Klosterman to document the information requested. Accordingly, the record is incomplete with respect to Lehmann's purported requests.

Notwithstanding the alleged potential deficiencies cited by Respondent's Seybold, the Claimant's May 30, 2002 Form 34-37 included an attached document containing information on the student that was part of the narrative. This narrative addressed the student's educational history, non-educational or social history, physical health, identified issues or concerns, psychological health or emotional health, and the student's current levels of educational performance as required by the instruction on page six of Form 34-37. Specifically, the Claimant's May 30, 2002 Form 34-37 narrative provided as follows:

1. Educational History and Current Levels of Education Performance were addressed by noting that the student has "been placed in behavior/emotional disorder classes for most of their educational career. The student has been involved in various types of educational settings, to more and more restrictive." "The parents have recently attempted home schooling." The student began school in District #117's special education classes, but has been moved to more restrictive settings with no success. Even home schooling was not successful.

2. Non-educational and Social History are addressed when Claimant noted that "[the student] has been demonstrating increasing difficulties at home. Parents are encountering much difficulty controlling their son's behavior. It is the mother who initiated the request for residential placement. She is very aware that she does not have the needed control to keep her son out of trouble." "He has encountered much difficulty in the home setting" and "while unsupervised during non-school hours."

In his testimony, Seybold admitted that the student's Physical Health, Identified Issues or Concerns, Psychological Health and Emotional Health were all addressed by Claimant's references in the narrative to the student's difficulties at home, others' inability to control the student's behavior, his inability to control his own behavior, and medication issues.

Further evidence that Claimant's narrative on page seven of the May 30, 2002 Form 23-37 contained the information required by the directions on page six, and outlined above, is language indicating that the student's behavior is so severe that no service provided so far has been able to manage the student, and that the student has severe emotional disturbance.

While the instructions on page six of the Form 34-37 require a narrative, Form 34-37 instructions only require that the applicant address the topics referenced in the previous paragraph. There is no standard or instruction advising how the applicant must address the issues within the narrative. It requires only that the issues are addressed in narrative form. Claimant did address the issues outlined in the May 30, 2002 Form 34-37. Again, it is uncertain as to what Lehmann considered in her assessment of the application, but Seybold made it clear that he "considers everything that is submitted" when reviewing an application.

Based upon a review of the record, it appears that the narrative provided by Claimant in the May 30, 2002 Form 34-37 did address educational history, non-educational or social history, physical health, identified issues or concerns, psychological health or emotional health, and the student's current levels of educational performance. Whether the application is adequate is left to the individual reviewer's subjective judgment. It is not based on an objective standard. Accordingly, this Court finds that the information required by the instructions on page six of the Form 34-37 was reasonably provided to the ISBE.

Further, the student's application for reimbursement of May 30, 2002 was filed in compliance with ISBE regulations located on Form 34-37. It states that "ISBE Form 34-37 is to be completed and submitted in a timely manner to allow approval prior to the district effecting the placement." The first billing period that Claimant paid Chaddock for Brendan's room and board, evidenced by a Chaddock invoice, was July 1, 2002 through October 31, 2002. The invoice was for the July/August Summer School session. The Claimant's Form 34-37 was submitted on May 30, 2002, a month in advance of the student's placement at Chaddock. Claimant acted in accordance with ISBE directions on the Form 34-37 because the Form 34-37 was received by the ISBE before the student was placed at Chaddock. We also know that these costs were incurred by the Claimant. Accordingly, this Court finds that Claimant's May 30, 2002 Form 34-37 for reimbursement of monies expended by Claimant on the student's private residential placement room and board at Chaddock School was sufficient to show substantial compliance with the ISBE directions.

2. UNDER THE PROCEDURAL DUE PROCESS REQUIREMENTS OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, THE LACK OF A DEFINED PROCESS AND NOTICE OF DEFICIENCIES IN THE APPLICATION BY THE ISBE PRIOR TO DENYING CLAIMANT'S MAY 30, 2002 FORM 34-37 IS A VIOLATION OF THE DUE PROCESS RIGHTS OF CLAIMANT IN THE REIMBURSEMENT FOR ROOM AND BOARD OF THE STUDENT'S PLACEMENT AT CHADDOCK SCHOOL.

Since the Court finds that the Claimant's May 30, 2002 Form 34-37 was legally sufficient to receive a claim for reimbursement, it is unnecessary to address the constitutional due process issues raised by the Claimant.

3. WHETHER AND TO WHAT EXTENT APPROPRIATED FUNDS WERE AVAILABLE TO REIMBURSE THE CLAIMANT FOR A LAPSED APPROPRIATION?

Due to the Court's finding that the May 30, 2002, Form 34-37 application was legally sufficient, it is necessary to determine the appropriate lapsed appropriation amount. In breach of contract claims whether the claims are before us on their merits or for approval of a settlement, it is this Court's policy to limit awards so as not to exceed the amount of funds, appropriated and lapsed, with which payment could have been made. To do otherwise, i.e. to award money for debt incurred beyond the sum allotted by the General Assembly, would be tantamount to making a deficiency appropriation. The appropriation of State funds for governmental operations is the constitutional prerogative of the General Assembly. It is this Court's duty to uphold that process and advise the General Assembly. (Thorlief Larsen & Son, Inc. v. State (1990), 42 Ct. Cl. 195; Bojko v. State (1988), 41 Ill. Ct. Cl. 202; J.F. Inc. v. State (1988), 41 Ill. Ct. Cl. 5; Loewenberg/Fitch Partnership v. State (1986), 38 Ill. Ct. Cl. 227; UDE, Inc. v. State (1982), 35 Ill. Ct. Cl. 384). In the case at bar, a Department Report is necessary for this determination. The award will be limited to the lesser amount of $49,510.80 or the amount of lapsed appropriation.

CONCLUSION

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED:

1. Four Rivers Special Education District is entitled to recovery of the $49,510.80 or the amount of the lapsed appropriation, whichever is less, from the Illinois State Board of Education.
2. The Respondent shall file within 10 days of the date of this Opinion a Departmental Report regarding the amount of funds that lapsed from which this claim would have been paid.

ORDER

J. Birnbaum

This matter is before the Court following its April 30, 2009 order.

The Court entered an Order that the Four Rivers Special Education District was entitled to recovery of $49,510.80 or the amount of the lapsed appropriation, whichever is less.

In that order, we directed the Respondent to file a departmental report regarding the funds lapsed from which this claim could be paid. The Respondent filed its report on May 12, 2009. In its report the Respondent represents that a federal grant award amount (the only monies to pay this claim) of $4,463.00 lapsed.

It is therefore ordered that the Claimant is awarded $4,463.00 payable from the general revenue fund.

ORDER

J. Birnbaum

This matter is before the Court following its June 29, 2010 order, wherein the Claimant was awarded $4,463.00. The balance of the award was not then payable due to insufficient monies having lapsed.

Funds in the amount of $45,047.80 have been appropriated to the Court of Claims to pay the balance of this claims award, pursuant to the Public Act 97-0057, effective July 1, 2011.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that an award of $45,047.80 is granted to the Claimant.

ORDER

BIRNBAUM, J.

This is a breach of contract action brought pursuant to the Court of Claims Act, 705 ILCS 505/8(b). Claimant is seeking $32,019.97 in damages for security guard services performed during July 2002. This case is before the Court following an evidentiary hearing before a commissioner which took place on November 30, 2007.

Claimant, Ewing, Lundberg & Associates, doing business as ELA Security (“ELA”), was a supplier of security guard services to the Department of Human Services (DHS) for an extended period of time beginning in 1999. These services were provided pursuant to a contract which ELA obtained following a competitive bid. ELA’s contract expired on June 30, 2002. Respondent held a bidder’s conference on May 24, 2002, for a new contract to provide security guard services from July 1, 2002 through June 30, 2003. ELA was the successful bidder; however, the new contract specified lower staffing levels than the previous contract between Claimant and Respondent.

EVIDENTIARY HEARING

The following witnesses testified at the evidentiary hearing: Peggy Lundberg (“Lundberg”), Vice President of Operations Support for ELA, Daniel Overton (“Overton”), President and Chief Executive Officer of ELA, Lynette McKinney-Colman (“Colman”), Public Service Coordinator for DHS, and Mae Ward-Cleveland (“Cleveland”), an employee of DHS.

Lundberg testified that she has been the Vice President of Operations Support for ELA for seven and a half years. She testified that on July 18, 2002, she received a phone call from Cleveland about several guards that did not show up to provide services at their assigned locations. Prior to this date, Cleveland would routinely call ELA to make adjustments in the field. According to Lundberg, Cleveland had initially called to advise her that there were the wrong number of guards at four of the sites, or that certain guards were unarmed and should have been armed. Lundberg responded that she would look into the matter as she did not know what was provided by the old contract or bid.

Lundberg further testified that she examined the prior contract and determined that they had the correct number of guards at the sites in question, and that said guards were unarmed or armed as required. Lundberg found other discrepancies at other sites which she related to Cleveland. Lundberg asked Cleveland if ELA should be pulling the guards out if it was not going to get paid. Lundberg testified that Cleveland stated she was going to continue her investigation, that ELA should keep the guards as is, and that ELA would be paid for the guards' services.

Lundberg further testified that she prepared informal notes of the first of those conversations showing the phone number from which Cleveland called, she prepared a memo to Overton outlining the situation, and she wrote a letter to Cleveland about the matter before the final telephone call from Cleveland directing that the guards should stay in place. Lundberg testified that she heard nothing further from DHS until she received a letter on July 31, 2002 from Victor Kurpita ("Kurpita") stating that ELA should reduce its level of staffing to the level set forth in the bid documents and apologizing for any "inconvenience" to ELA. ELA responded by doing so immediately.

Overton testified that he is the President and Chief Executive Officer of ELA Security which is a licensed private security contractor and licensed detective agency. On May 31, 2002, Overton signed the contract at issue in this case. According to the contract, the effective dates were from July 1, 2002 until June 30, 2003. On July 18, 2002, Lundberg told him that ELA was providing more security officers than was required under the bidding documents that had been completed and submitted to DHS. On July 31, 2002, ELA received a fax from Kurpita directing them to comply with the staffing levels of the contract that was effective July 1, 2002.

Overton further testified that requests for changes in security guard services came in fairly frequently, every four to six weeks. He stated that they were usually oral then followed up in writing, though there were times when there was no written follow up. In each of those cases, ELA had received payment for the services requested pursuant to the informal change. Overton also testified that he regarded the staffing levels contained in the bid documents to be mere estimates or projections for use in formulating the numbers for a bid; thus, when he prepared the new bid, he did not assume that the new contract would automatically contain a different staffing level than the old contract.

Colman testified that she was an employee of DHS for 18 years. In July 2002, her position was Public Service Administrator and one of her duties entailed managing the contract with ELA. Colman and Kurpita were designated as Security Coordinators for the subject contract which gave them authority to make staffing changes. Colman further testified that she was aware that there was a dispute with Claimant regarding staffing levels for the month of July, but she could not authorize payment for services not covered in the contract.

Cleveland testified that she has been employed by the State of Illinois for thirty years and by DHS from 2000 to 2002. Cleveland's duties in July 2002 involved managing, inspecting, monitoring the performance of security guard services, and ensuring on a daily basis that all the facilities for which she was responsible had security officers sufficient for the protection of DHS clients, staff and property. Once Cleveland became aware that a facility was short a security guard, she would notify her supervisor, Kurpita, who would then contact ELA. Arrangements would then be made for the facility in question. This request for additional guards was done orally and if it was followed up in writing, it would be done by Kurpita. Cleveland had no role in ensuring that ELA would get paid for the services it provided. Cleveland denied having a conversation with Lundberg in July 2002 or otherwise telling her to keep staffing levels as they were or that ELA would get paid for the disputed security guard services. Cleveland also denied receiving a letter from Lundberg and denied discussing this issue with Kurpita.

It was also adduced at trial that in the spring of 2002, a solicitation notice, general information, and a copy of the bid which included the level of security guards for which to bid were placed on the Illinois Procurement Bulletin as a small business set aside bid. Subsequently, a Notice was placed on the Illinois Procurement Bulletin to retract the bid. The Department went out for bid again and placed the Procurement on the Illinois Bulletin. The Procurement contained the levels on security services that would be bid upon. The information in the Invitation to Bid, including the staffing levels, did not change from that contained in the first bid.

A bidder's conference on the second bid was held on May 24, 2002. David Thompson, ELA's chief operations officer, was present at the bidder's conference. Thompson received documents that were presented at the conference which pertained to the subject contract, including the staffing levels that were to be bid upon. The information that was provided to Claimant up to this point, including the staffing levels, was the same information that was provided to the new potential vendors. It was made clear at the bidder's conference that the start date for the contract was July 1, 2002.

Overton signed the subject contract on May 31, 2002. On June 7, 2002, Claimant submitted its Best and Final Bid to the State. The Best and Final bid is an attempt by the State to see if it can get a lower price from its bidders. Taking into consideration the information in the bid, including the staffing levels, and the figures that were previously submitted, Claimant provided a price. On June 19, 2002, the notice that Claimant had won the contract was published on the Illinois Procurement Bulletin. This publication included information that Claimant had won the contract with the requirements of the new staffing levels.

The following exhibits were admitted at the evidentiary hearing:

Contract between Claimant and Respondent for security guard services effective July 1, 2002 ending June 30, 2003.

Letter from Lundberg to Cleveland dated July 18, 2002

LEGAL ANALYSIS

In dealing with an agent of the State, one must ascertain at his peril the authority of the agent and the mere assertions of the agent are not sufficient to bind the State, and implied contracts are not favored by this Court. Melvin v. State, 41 Ill. Ct. Cl. 88 (1989), see also New Life Development Corp. v. State, 45 Ill. Ct. Cl. 65 (1992). In Melvin, this Court set forth the following with regard to contracting with the State:

For all of the involved testimony, the numerous exhibits, and the extensive briefs, this case comes down to a simple case of contract construction. This case is also a primer on how to deal with the State on a construction project. Anyone who deals with the State has to understand that you do not work on a handshake. Every “i” must be dotted and every “t” crossed. Whether it was wishful thinking or pure naivete, Claimant did not follow the letter of the contract but only the spirit. Under the present state of the law, that is not good enough. The written contract prevails here. Claimant’s position that an oral contract or implied contract exists must fail as this is not a contract of an emergency nature.

The instant case comes down to the subject contract that was in place on July 18, 2002. In construing this contract and determining the intentions of the parties, the instrument must be considered as a whole. McDonnell Douglas v. State, 36 Ill. Ct. Cl. 46 (1984). Contract obligations derive from the plain words of the contract themselves. R.W. Dunteman Co. v. State, 52 Ill. Ct. Cl. 33 (1999). It is the generally accepted rule of law that the rights and obligations of the party to a contract are determined from the plain, unambiguous wording of the contract. Hoel-Steffen Construction Co. v. State, 35 Ill. Ct. Cl. 108 (1982). The terms and conditions of a contract, if unambiguous, are enforced as they appear and will control the rights of the parties. Johnson v. State, 55 Ill. Ct. Cl. 410 (2002).

While Claimant alleges that the new contract was not in effect at this time, the language of the new contract explicitly states that the beginning of the new contract was July 1, 2002. There is no ambiguity and Claimant was aware of the terms of the contract, including the reduction of staffing levels since the spring of 2002 when the bidding process began. On May 31, 2002, Overton signed the subject contract; thus Claimant was bound by the terms of that contract. Notwithstanding prior additions of security guards and funding for same, a new contract was in effect that specifically reduced the number of security guards. That reduction was an integral part of the bidding process and the basis of Claimant getting the contract.

Claimant maintains that the additional security guard services were an implied or oral contract separate from the existing contract. However, it is well established that oral or implied contracts are not favored by this Court. Evans Construction Co. v. State, 44 Ill. Ct. Cl. 112 (1988). In Evans, a contractor sought compensation for additional work that was performed outside the scope of the written contract in connection with the rehabilitation of an underground parking garage. The project engineers of the State gave oral and written directives to the claimant for the additional work to be performed. This Court held that while the disposition seemed harsh, the Court must give deference to the rule of law fashioned to protect the public monies and those expenditures not specifically approved as required by the contract were not recoverable.

Claimant also argues that Cleveland had authority to approve the additional security guards since she functioned as the “Security Coordinator.” As such, Respondent is bound by her representations that Claimant would be paid for the additional services requested. However, it was never clearly established at the evidentiary hearing whether Cleveland was a Security Coordinator under the new contract in effect at the time. Further, it was Respondent’s position that Cleveland never made any representations to Lundberg regarding payment for the month of July 2002.

Assuming arguendo, that Cleveland made the statements testified to by Lundberg, the doctrine of apparent authority has limited, if any, application to the State where contractors are required to ascertain at their own peril the true authority of purported agents of the State. Duntelman v. State, 38 Ill. Ct. Cl. 51 (1985). As this Court has pointed out, when dealing with the State, one cannot do so on a handshake. New Life, supra, see also, Rubidoux and Sasak v. Northeastern Illinois University, et al., 53 Ill. Ct. Cl. 215 (2000). While Respondent concedes that Cleveland had the responsibility of ensuring that all the facilities under her command had the appropriate levels of security guards, there was no genuine proof that she was the Security Coordinator under the subject contract and therefore no evidence that she had the authority to guarantee payment for changes in the staffing levels not specified in the contract. As such, even if Cleveland assured Lundberg that Claimant would get paid for the additional security guards, Lundberg should not have relied on Cleveland’s assertions in the face of the unambiguous written contract.

Accordingly, this claim is DENIED.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

ERIK WILLIAM TAYLOR, Claimant, v. WESTERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY, Respondent.

Respondent.

Contract-Elements-For a contract to exist there must be an offer, an acceptance of that offer, and consideration.

Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Businesses Practices Act-A State entity is not a “person” as defined under the Act, and therefore is not subject to a lawsuit under its provisions.

Limitations-Claimant filed tortuous misrepresentation actions beyond the two-year statute of limitations.

ORDER

STORINO, J.

This cause coming before this Court on Respondent’s Motion to Dismiss, the matter having been briefed by the parties, and this Court being fully advised in the premises;

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

Claimant’s complaint is dismissed in its entirety for the reasons stated as follows.

Factual Background

Claimant alleges that he applied to transfer to Western Illinois University (“WIU”) for the Spring 2000 semester. On December 6, 1999, Claimant was issued an acceptance letter by WIU that stated that Claimant was accepted and his status was as a Junior. The acceptance letter also indicated that an official notice of transfer credit would subsequently be sent to Claimant upon his registration. On January 13, 2000, Claimant was given his official notice of transfer credit which indicated that 51 hours out of the 71 hours of classes taken at previous institutions would be applied toward the Claimant’s degree requirements. Having only 51 hours applied toward his degree resulted in Claimant’s classification as a sophomore based upon his semester hour earned.

On December 21, 2004, Claimant filed a three-count² complaint before this Court against WIU alleging that upon his transfer, WIU failed to apply all previously earned credit hours to his degree requirements, which would classify him as a Junior as indicated in his acceptance letter, thereby resulting in a breach of contract.

² Claimant’s complaint is actually five Counts due to the fact that Claimant has labeled Counts I and III in the alternative. The actual Counts before this Court are: Count I, breach of contract; Alternative Count I, breach of contract; Count II, violation of Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act; Count III and Alternative Count III, tortuous misrepresentation.

Count I is a claim for breach of contract, alleging the letter of acceptance contractually obligated WIU to entitle Claimant Junior status with the University. Alternative Count I is a claim for breach of contract between the United States Army and WIU. Count II is a claim alleging WIU violated the Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act. Count III and Alternative Count III are both claims alleging tortuous misrepresentation on behalf of WIU.

Opinion

Count I and Alternative Count I fail for Claimant has failed to identify a contract which would entitle him to relief if breached. Claimant fails to attach the contracts identified in Count I and Alternative Count I, thereby mandating dismissal of his contract claims. 74 Ill. Adm Code §790.50.

In addition, with respect to Count I, Claimant relies on the acceptance letter as a contract entitling him to Junior status with the university. First, this Court does not consider the acceptance letter a contract between the parties. In order for a contract to exist, there must be an offer, acceptance of the offer, and consideration. Jones v. Board of Governors of State Colleges and Univs., 35 Ill. Ct. Cl. 691 (1983). This letter of acceptance constitutes merely an offer, only one portion of the necessary elements to give rise to a contract, and does not suffice as a contract in and of itself. In addition, even if this letter of acceptance was considered a contract on its own, Claimant has not and can not allege a breach of the letter of acceptance because said letter specifically provides that an official notice of transfer credit would be issued to Claimant at a later date. As such, Claimant has no claim of entitlement to more credit hours than would be issued pursuant to the official notice of transfer credit. Accordingly, Count I of Claimant's complaint fails.

In Alternative Count I, Claimant argues that a contract exists between WIU and the United States Army to which Claimant is a third party beneficiary, however, as referenced above, Claimant attaches no such contract, therefore Alternative Count I is subject to dismissal. 74 Ill. Adm Code §790.50. Claimant does attach an ROTC Nonscholarship Cadet Contract between Claimant and the United States Army obligating Claimant to enroll in the necessary courses at WIU to complete the ROTC program. However, the attached contract does not suffice as a contract binding WIU to Claimant as asserted under Alternative Count I, for WIU is in no way a party to said contract. As such, Alternative Count I of Claimant's complaint fails.

Count II of Claimant's complaint for violation of the Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act ("CFDBP Act") fails for a State entity is not a "person" as defined in the Act, thus not subject to a lawsuit under its provisions. See People v. E & E Hauling, 153 Ill. 2d 473 (1992); see also DuPage Aviation Corporation v. DuPage Airport Authority, 229 Ill. App. 3d 793 (1992). The CFDBP Act specifically applies to persons defined, in pertinent part, as follows:

" . . . any natural person or his legal representative, partnership, corporation (domestic and foreign), company, trust, business entity or association, and any agent, employee, salesman, partner, officer, director, member, stockholder, associate, trustee, or cestui que trust thereof."

As specifically defined, the provisions of the CFDBP Act do not subject a political body, such as the State of Illinois, to liability under the Act, and accordingly, Claimant's claim under Count II fails.

Claimant's actions under Count III and Alternative Count III, for tortuous misrepresentation, are barred for having been filed beyond the applicable statutes of limitations. (See 705 ILCS 505/22(h)). Both of these counts sound in tort and are bound by the two-year statute of limitations. Id. Claimant's cause of action accrued no later January 13, 2000, the date Claimant received the official transcript of hours, which put Claimant on notice of the alleged misrepresentation of his Junior status. As such, Claimant was obligated to file his tort actions no later than January 13, 2002, as subject to the two-year statute of limitations. Claimant filed his complaint on December 21, 2004, well beyond the expiration of the applicable statute of limitations.

The statute of limitations is jurisdictional on this Court, and failure to comply leaves the Court powerless to enter any award. See 705 ILCS 505 22(j); Illinois Bell Telephone Co. v. State, 35 Ill. Ct. Cl. 345 (1981); Conglis v. State, 14 Ill. Ct. Cl. 73; Weber v. State, 19 Ill. Ct. Cl. 33 (1945); Moore v. State, 11 Ill. Ct. Cl. 491 (1949). Claimant failed to meet these statutory requirements and is accordingly barred from pursuing any remedy before this Court under Count III and Alternative Count III, for this Court lacks the requisite jurisdiction to hear these claims.

Accordingly, Respondent's motion to dismiss is granted and the Claimant's complaint is hereby dismissed in its entirety.

VIRGIE WALLACE, Claimant, v. ILLINOIS DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION, Respondent.

Opinion filed February 3, 2010

VIRGIE WALLACE, pro se
LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General (TOMAS RAMIREZ, Assistant Attorney General, of counsel), for Respondent.

Highways-The State has a duty to maintain its highways in reasonably safe conditions but it is not an insurer against all accidents.

Negligence-Elements-Claimant must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that: the State breached its duty of reasonable care; the State's negligence was the proximate cause of the injury; a dangerous condition or defect existed; and the State had actual or constructive notice of the condition.

Highways-Constructive notice-Claimant must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the defect was substantial enough that immediate repairs should be made, and existed for such a length of time that a reasonable person would have had an opportunity to make the repairs.

Highways-State not liable for car damage caused by a rock in the roadway because the State did not have either actual or constructive notice of the condition.

OPINION

STORINO, J.

The Claimant, Virgie Wallace, brings this claim in Tort seeking $508.74 for property damage repairs to her vehicle due to the alleged failure of the State to maintain its highways in a reasonably safe condition. The parties agreed to waive the presence of a court reporter to transcribe the proceedings.

Factual Background

Claimant testified that on March 16, 2006, at approximately 10:00 AM, she was driving her 2002 Cadillac Deville northbound on Bishop Ford near 130th Street in Chicago, Illinois. While Claimant was driving on the inside lane, her vehicle struck a large rock in the roadway causing damage to her vehicle's oil pan. Claimant estimated the rock was about four to five inches wide. The Claimant submitted a paid bill from Riverdale Body Shop located in Chicago Heights in the amount of $508.74 for repairs to her vehicle. Claimant filed a property damage claim with the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT). In its letter dated August 2, 2006, IDOT denied her claim, stating that based on its investigation it found no liability on its part for damage to Claimant's car.

Respondent's Departmental Report was admitted into evidence at hearing and indicated that IDOT made a diligent search of all incident reports, complaints, and records kept in the normal course of business from February 16, 2006, through March 18, 2006, and found that there were no prior complaints about an alleged hazard at the location in question. The lack of any prior complaints was confirmed by the testimony of IDOT Litigation Representative Sharon Watson. Claimant testified that she did not have any knowledge as to the length of time the rock she struck had been in the roadway.

Analysis

The State has a duty to maintain its highways in a reasonably safe condition. Blair v. State (1994), 47 Ill.Ct.Cl. 242, 242-43. However, the State is not an insurer against all accidents that may occur by reason of the condition of its highways. Scroggins v. State (1991), 43 Ill.Ct.Cl. 225, 226. To prevail in a negligence action, the Claimant must prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that (1) the State breached its duty of reasonable care, (2) the State's negligence was the proximate cause of the injury, (3) a dangerous condition or defect existed, and (4) the State had actual or constructive notice of the condition. Id. at 227. Hanawell v. State (1995), 47 Ill.Ct.Cl. 270, 275.

Based on Respondent's IDOT Report and Sharon Watson's testimony at trial, the Court finds that Respondent did not have actual notice of a rock in the roadway at the location. To prove that Respondent had constructive notice of the condition, Claimant must show by a preponderance of the evidence that the defect: (1) was substantial enough that immediate repairs should be made, and (2) existed for such a length of time that a reasonable person would have had an opportunity to make the repairs. Aetna Casualty v. State (1984), 37 Ill.Ct.Cl. 179, 181. Here, Claimant has failed to establish that Respondent had constructive notice of the rock in the roadway as she was unable to provide any information regarding the length of time the rock had been in the roadway. Accordingly, the Court finds that Respondent was not negligent because it did not have either constructive or actual notice of the rock in the roadway.

THEREFORE, it is Hereby Ordered that Claimant's Complaint is DENIED.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION, Respondent.

Order filed August 18, 2009

WILLIAM C. LINDSAY, for Claimant
LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General (JILL OTTE, Assistant Attorney General, of counsel), for Respondent.

Contracts-Indemnification Clause-Claimant’s contract contained an indemnification clause where Claimant agreed to indemnify IDOT in actions filed. Claimant was bound by the contractual provisions.

Practice and Procedure-Anti-subrogation rule-An insurer may not subrogate against its own insured or any person or entity who has the status of a co-insured under the insurance policy.

ORDER

BIRNBAUM, J.

This matter is before the Court on Respondent’s Motion for Summary Judgment pursuant to 735 ILCS 5/2-1005(c). Claimant filed a complaint on October 5, 2006, seeking contribution for a one million dollar settlement reached in a circuit court action. In that case, the plaintiff was a third party who was seriously injured when a large portion of a tree fell on her vehicle. That settlement released Claimant and its insurer, Scottsdale Insurance (“Scottsdale”) indicating that one or both paid the agreed settlement. The State of Illinois and the Illinois Department of Transportation (“IDOT”) were also named in the release, although the State was not a party to that action.

On or about January 28, 2003, Claimant and IDOT entered into a contract wherein Claimant was hired to perform “work” relating to tree removal in various counties within IDOT’s District 1. The “Standard Specifications” were incorporated into the contract of which Article 107.26 is set forth below:

The Contractor shall be responsible for any and all injuries to persons or damages to property due to the activities of the Contractor. The Contractor shall indemnify and hold harmless the Department, its officers, employees, and agents from any and all claims, lawsuits, actions, costs, fees of every nature or description, arising from, growing out of, or connected with the work, or on account of or in consequence of any neglect in safeguarding the work or on account of or in consequence of using unacceptable materials in constructing the work or because of any act or omission, neglect, or misconduct of the Contractor. This obligation is binding on the Contractor without regard to whether or not such claim, damage, loss, or expense is caused in part by the act, omission or negligence of the Department or its officers, employees, or agents.

Article 107.27 of the Standard Specifications also included the following provisions:

The Contractor shall obtain and thereafter keep in force the following insurance coverages provided by insurance companies acceptable to the Department and authorized to transact business under the laws of the State of Illinois. The coverage shall provide by an endorsement in the appropriate manner and form, the Department, its officers, and employees shall be named as additional insured with respect to the policies and any umbrella excess liability coverage for occurrences arising in whole or in part out of the work and operations performed. The Department may accept a separate owner's protective liability policy in lieu of the Department, its (sic) officers, and employees being insured on the Contractor's policies.

Claimant seeks contribution from the State for the settlement entered into the circuit court. Specifically, Claimant alleges that IDOT's negligence was the proximate cause of Priscilla Adolphson's injuries caused when a tree located on state property fell on Mrs. Adolphson's vehicle and of David Adolphson's loss of consortium claim. Claimant claims that it is the sole owner of the claim for contribution but also claims that Scottsdale has a subrogation interest in the claim for contribution. Claimant stipulates that Scottsdale is the real party in interest since it paid the settlement with the Adolphsons.

Respondent seeks summary judgment based on the provisions of the Standard Specifications set forth above. Specifically, Respondent argues that Claimant's claims are barred by the Indemnification Clause. We agree. As set forth above, Article 107.26 requires that a contractor with IDOT "be responsible for any and all injuries to persons or damages to property due to the activities of the Contractor" and that "the Contractor shall indemnify and hold harmless the Department from any and all claims, lawsuits, actions, costs and fees ... of every nature or description arising from, growing out of, or connected with the work." Article 107.26 further provides that "[t]his obligation is binding on the Contractor without regard to whether or not such claim, damage, loss, or expense is caused in part by the act, omission, or negligence of the Department." This provision clearly sets forth an agreement by Claimant to indemnify IDOT in actions such as the one filed in circuit court by the Adolphsons.

Claimant argues that the State postponed a work order to remove the tree that fell on Patricia Adolphson and therefore faces liability for that decision. This argument is without merit for two reasons. First, Respondent reauthorized the work order in March 2004, well before the tree fell causing the injury. Second, and more importantly, the contract specifically indemnifies IDOT even if it was also negligent as set forth in the final sentence of the Indemnification Clause: "This obligation is binding on the Contractor without regard to whether or not such claim, damages, loss, or expense is caused in part by the act, omission, or negligence of the Department or its officers, employees or agents."

Claimant also argues that the "mere requirement" in the contract that Claimant purchase insurance for the State is not a bar to Claimant seeking contribution from the State citing Dowling v. Otis Elevator Co., 192 Ill. App. 3d 1064 (1st Dist. 1989). However, Dowling held that a promise to obtain insurance alone is not enough to create a duty to indemnify and that a contract must specifically contain a provision that requires indemnification, even in the event of the other party's negligence. Section 107.26 of the Standard Specifications contains exactly that, an unequivocal expression of intent that Claimant is to indemnify the State even in the event that the State may also have been negligent. Claimant was required to provide insurance that insured both itself and the State for any personal injury claims alleging negligence of either party.

Respondent also argues that the anti-subrogation rule bars this claim. Again, we agree. Specifically, an insurer may not subrogate its own insured or any person or entity who has the status of a co-insured under the insurance policy. Dix Mutual Insurance Co. v. LaFramboise, 149 Ill.2d 314, 597 N.E.2d 622 (1992). Claimant stipulates that the real party in interest is its insurer, Scottsdale. The anti-subrogation rule is intended to prevent an insurer from recovering back from its insured that loss or damage the risk of which the insured had passed along to the insurer under the policy. See Chubb Insurance Co. v. DeChambre, No. 1-02-3686 (1st Dist., March 24, 2004). As set forth above, the State was covered under Scottsdale's additional insurance endorsement. The anti-subrogation rule bars Scottsdale from seeking contribution from its own insured, IDOT.

In Claimant's Combined Objection to a Motion to Strike Respondent's Reply Brief and Affidavit, Claimant contends that Respondent's reply brief "must be stricken because it is based on a new argument supported by an affidavit introducing new material facts into the case." However, this Court finds that the unambiguous contractual provisions set forth previously bar Claimant and Claimant's insurer, Scottsdale, from seeking contribution from IDOT. Thus, this Court rejects Claimant's argument that Respondent raised a new argument and introduced "new material facts" in the case.

Summary judgment should be granted where there is no genuine issue of material fact for a trier of fact to hear. 735 ILCS 5/2-1005(c). Viewing the facts set forth by Claimant (the non-movant) in the most favorable light, this Court still finds that Claimant is bound by the contractual provisions set forth as a matter of law.

Accordingly, Respondent's Motion for Summary Judgment is GRANTED. This matter is DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

KEVIN JONES, Claimant, v. CHICAGO STATE UNIVERSITY, Respondent.

Order filed March 3, 2009
Order filed September 9, 2009

JOEL HANDLER, for Claimant
LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General (MARTIN BURZAWA, Assistant Attorney General, of counsel), for Respondent.

Contract Termination-Both Claimant and Chicago State University had a contractual right to unilaterally terminate the contract within specific terms. The contract stated an employee can be terminated for no reason. The terms of the contract were clear and unambiguous and therefore no breach of contract occurred.

Liquidated Damages-A liquidated damages provision is valid when: (1) the parties intended to agree in advance to the settlement of damages that might arise from the breach, (2) the amount of liquidated damages was reasonable at the time of contracting, and (3) actual damages would be uncertain in amount and difficult to prove. These conditions were met in the termination provisions within the contract and were therefore valid.

ORDER

BIRNBAUM, J.

This matter is before the Court on Respondent's Motion to Dismiss. Claimant has also filed a Motion for Partial Summary Judgment.

In 2005, Claimant and Chicago State University (CSU) entered into a written agreement entitled Head Basketball Coach Contract (Contract) whereby Claimant would serve as the head coach for CSU's basketball team from July 1, 2005, through June 30, 2010.

In a letter dated March 13, 2007, Elnora Daniel, President of CSU, terminated Claimant's employment effective March 15, 2007, pursuant to Article 6.1 of the Contract. That provision states as follows:

6.1 Termination of this Agreement by Chicago State University may occur without cause only by the decision of the President. Chicago State University shall pay to, as liquidated damages, an amount equal to 3 months of his annual salary, to be paid on a monthly basis prorated over the remained (sic) of the term of the Agreement, or in a lump sum payment at the election of CSU. Kevin Jones shall be entitled to continue health insurance and group life insurance at his expense for up to one month after the effective date of termination.

Chicago State University shall not be liable for any liquidated damages or loss of any collateral business opportunities or any other benefits, perquisites, or income from any sources that might ensue as a result of Chicago State University's termination of his Agreement with or without cause.

Claimant was also given the right to terminate the Contract prior to the expiration of its term as set forth in provision 6.3:

6.3 Kevin Jones recognizes that the promise to work for the Chicago State University during the entire term of this Agreement is the essence of this Agreement. Kevin Jones recognized (sic) that Chicago State University is making a highly valuable investment in his employment by entering into this Agreement and that the Chicago State University's investment would be lost if Kevin Jones were to resign or otherwise terminate employment with Chicago State University before the end of the contract term. Nonetheless, it is agreed that at any time after commencement of this Agreement, Kevin Jones may terminate this Agreement by giving 60 days written notice to Chicago State University, such termination to become effective no earlier than 60 days after receipt of such written notice.

On April 6, 2007, Claimant filed a two count complaint alleging breach of contract and violation of the Illinois Wage Payment and Collection Act (IWCA) seeking $255,000 in damages. Claimant withdrew Count II of the complaint in its Memorandum in Opposition to Respondent's Motion to Dismiss, conceding Respondent's position that IWCA does not apply to State employees.

Respondent contends that CSU "did nothing more than adhere to the terms of the Contract" when it terminated Claimant. Specifically, Claimant was terminated by the President of CSU and was paid three (3) months salary as liquidated damages as set forth in the Contract. As such, no breach of contract occurred as a matter of law. We agree.

The contract provisions regarding termination are set forth clearly. Both sides had a contractual right to unilaterally terminate the Contract within specific terms. This Court has consistently interpreted similar language to give the State the right to unilaterally terminate an agreement. See Monroe Development Agency v. State, 54 Ill. Ct. Cl. 426 (2002) and Baker's Pharmacy v. State, 52 Ill. Ct. Cl. 442 (1999). In each of those cases, there was a provision in the contract at issue that allowed termination of the contract without cause as long as certain notice requirements were met. This Court found such terms to be clear and unambiguous and no breach of contract to have occurred as a matter of law.

Claimant argues that he was in fact terminated for cause and, therefore, provision 6.1 does not apply. Claimant's literal interpretation of the "without cause" provision defies common sense. Claimant is asking this Court to render an absurd interpretation of otherwise clear and unambiguous terms in the termination clause. Claimant's employment agreement created an "at will" employment relationship wherein both parties could terminate the Contract without cause. To argue that a for cause termination would somehow subject the State to a different, higher standard is without merit. When a contract provides that an employee can be terminated for no reason, it logically follows that he can also be fired for a good reason.

Claimant also argues that the liquidated damages provision is, in practice, a penalty clause and unenforceable and, as such, renders the entire section void. In general, a liquidated damages provision is valid and enforceable when "(1) the parties intended to agree in advance to the settlement of damages that might arise from the breach, (2) the amount of liquidated damages was reasonable at the time of contracting, bearing some relation to the damages which might be sustained, and (3) actual damages would be uncertain in amount and difficult to prove." Grossinger Motorcorp, Inc. v. American Nat. Bank and Trust Co., 240 Ill. App. 3d 737, 607 N.E.2d 1337 (1st Dist. 1992). Respondent maintains that these conditions were met in the termination provision because, (1) both sides agreed in advance on the settlement of damages, (2) three months salary was a fair calculation of the damages that Claimant would sustain by a breach, (3) actual damages sustained by the Claimant would be difficult to assess since mitigation of damages would come into play. Again, we agree.

Once again, it is illogical to interpret the provision that gives Claimant three months salary upon termination a penalty. Given the clear and unambiguous interpretation of the Contract and Respondent's adherence to those terms, this Court finds that there was no breach as a matter of law.

Accordingly, Respondent's Motion to Dismiss is GRANTED rendering Claimant's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment MOOT. Claimant's complaint is DISMISSED WITH PREJUDICE.
IT IS SO ORDERED.

ORDER

BIRNBAUM, J.

This matter is before the Court on Claimant's Motion for Rehearing as well as Respondents answer thereto, the Court being advised in the premises.

Claimant asserts that the Court erred in its application of Illinois law in granting Respondent's Motion to Dismiss.

The Claimant argues that the Court erred because it altered or modified the terms of the subject agreement to provide a better bargain to suit the Respondent (Claimant's brief at page 5). The Claimant complains that this Court rewrote the subject agreement in a manner that limited Claimant's ability to sue for breach and to collect the damages he claims.

The Court rejects these arguments. This Court has before it an agreement that is clear and unambiguous in its terms. The Court did not rewrite the subject agreement. Rather it made its decision based upon the clear and unambiguous language of same.

Claimant's Motion for Rehearing is accordingly DENIED.
IT IS SO ORDERED.

MISSING PROPERTY CLAIMS

FY 2010

The following list of cases consists of claims brought by prisoners and inmates of State correctional facilities against the State to recover the value of certain items of personal property of which they allegedly possessed while incarcerated, but which were allegedly lost while the State was in possession thereof or for which the State was allegedly otherwise responsible. Consistent with the cases involving the same subject matter appearing in full in previous Court of Claims Reports, these claims were all decided based upon the theories of bailments, conversion, or negligence. Because of the volume, length, and general similarity of the opinions, the full texts of the opinions were not published, except for those claims which may have some precedential value.

ORDER

BIRNBAUM, J.

This case is before the Court on a motion by the Illinois Attorney General to reconsider the Court's opinion of March 12, 2004. The Attorney General filed a motion to reconsider and withdrew it at the time she filed an amended motion to reconsider on March 21, 2008. This Court issued an Order on September 26, 2008 and the State filed a new Motion to Reconsider on January 26, 2009. In its January 26, 2009 Motion to Reconsider, Respondent accepts the Court's construction of the Crime Victims Compensation Act, but requests that the Court reconsider some of its language. The Court finds Respondent's January 26, 2009 motion to be persuasive. As such, this Modified Order incorporates many of the suggestions set forth in that motion.

The Attorney General's Office points out and the Court takes notice of the fact that several others cases involving the same issue are currently pending before the Court (see e.g. Latesha Smith vs. State, 03 CV 3419 et al). It is our goal that this Modified Order be a vehicle to resolve those other claims.

In its March 21, 2008 amended Motion to Reconsider, the Attorney General argues that the Illinois Crime Victims Compensation Act precludes minors from seeking compensation for medical, hospital and other expenses, if not filed within two (2) years of the date of the occurrence of the crime. The Attorney General argues that under the Family Expense Act parents are legally responsible for expenses incurred in raising their children and therefore the claim is owned by the parent. This, Respondent argues, precludes, a child from asserting the tolling provision of the Illinois Crime Victims statute. That tolling provision states a child may file a claim for benefits within two (2) years of he or she obtaining the age of eighteen (18).

The State makes a similar argument as to a claim for loss of support. Respondent asserts this claim is owned by the parent and not the child.

For the reasons further articulated below, we deny the Attorney General's Motion to Reconsider of March 21, 2008, but adopt the suggestions in the January 26, 2009 Motion.

The Crime Victims Compensation Act is a unique creation of the legislature. It is designed to provide a level of support and comfort to the innocent victims of crime.

In many of the crime victim cases involving minors that come before us, the child is at significant risk of suffering long term damage if not given medical and counseling services. For example, in some of these cases the child was a victim of abuse (see Smith vs. State, supra). It is critical that these children be given access to medical and other counseling services even when there is a delay in a request for reimbursement for these services. To deny these benefits to a child, an innocent victim of a crime runs contrary to the legislative purpose in providing this benefit. A child, deprived of necessary counseling will undoubtedly suffer long term harm. The wounded child, left untreated, suffers into adulthood. At times those wounds carry on to their children. All of society suffers.

The State uses an example when a child incurs $10,000 medical expenses. The child applies for an award upon reaching majority a check is issued to the child. State argues that reimbursed expenses may be used for illegitimate purposes. The Respondent's motion states "The victim can cash the check and spend the money on whatever he likes, an I-POD, entertainment, food or even illegal drugs".

The statute only provides for reimbursal of actual expenses. In the State's example those expenses, in the ordinary course would be paid to the provider. No matter what, to deny compensation based upon other assumption the child will put the money to a bad purpose is not only cynical, it will result in great harm. If those expenses are not recoverable, the child's parent or guardian may be inclined to forgo treatment for the child. It is critically important that these children receive counseling, and other necessary services. The same holds true for support. To place impediments to their ability to access those remedies (where through the negligent delay of their parent or otherwise) would be a great disservice to the child.

Using the test set out in Illinois Supreme Court Decision Walgreen Company vs. Industrial Commission, 323 Ill. 194, 197 153 N.E. 831, 833 (1926) children with meritorious causes of action should not be punished because their guardians failed to enforce their rights. A public policy of this state is that "courts should guard carefully the rights of minors, and that a minor should not be precluded from enforcing his rights unless clearly debarred from so doing by some statute or constitutional provision." Walgreen Company vs. Industrial Commission, 323 Ill. 194, 197 153 N.E. 831, 833 (1926). The Compensation Act allows a person to file a claim within 2 years of the occurrence of the crime and within one year after a criminal indictment of a person for an offense upon which the claim is based. 720 ILCS 45/6.1(a). However, the Act also provides that an individual has two years to file after a legal disability, such as being a minor, has been removed. The Act does not preclude a minor from enforcing his rights; in fact, it protects the ability of a minor to apply once he is an adult. Therefore, a child should not be punished because the parent or guardian failed to protect the child's rights by applying to the compensation program in a timely manner. When a claim involves a minor victim, the parent or guardian can apply to the program for benefits on behalf of the minor child until the child is 18. Upon reaching majority the now young adult can apply on his or her own behalf until his or her 20th birthday.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that this claim is referred back to the Office of the Attorney General for further investigation and an amended investigatory report.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that if compensation is found to be warranted, it should be paid in accordance with Sections 10.1 and 18 of the Act.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that if compensation is found to be a warranted for loss of support, payment should be reimbursed to the parent or guardian of the minor at the time that individual had minority status, and it should be paid in accordance with Sections 10.1, 11.1 and 18 of the Act.

TINA ANDERSON AND JASON ALSEPT, Claimants, v. STATE OF ILLINOIS, Respondent.

Order filed September 25, 2009

TINA ANDERSON AND JASON ALSEPT, pro se
LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General (CYNTHIA GONZALEZ & MICHAEL IRVING, Assistant Attorney General, of counsel, for Respondent.

Crimes-Decedent died due to a drug overdose. A Drug Induced Homicide is not compensable under the Crime Victim's Compensation Act.

ORDER

BIRNBAUM, J.

Claimants filed their applications under the Crime Victim's Compensation Act, (740 ILCS 45/1 et seq.), on November 14, 2007. The Court of Claims denied the application on February 25, 2008 finding that charge against the alleged offender was Drug Induced Homicide, (720 ILCS 5/9-3.3), which is not compensable under the Act. Claimant filed a motion to reconsider on March 27, 2008. On May 13, 2009 hearing took place before Commissioner Yursa. Claimant appeared pro se and Assistant Attorney General Brett Irving represented the State of Illinois.

I. BACKGROUND

The basis for the denial of the application was that the circumstances of the death of Claimant's daughter was not compensable under §2(c) of the Act, (740 ILCS 45/2(c)). Claimants testified that their daughter, Jessica L. Alsept, died due to a drug overdose on September 20, 2007. Claimants did not present any testimony as to actually what transpired during the incident. Claimants argue that while Drug Induced Homicide is not listed as a compensable crime under the Act it should be considered a compensable crime because: (1) drug induced homicide is a violent crime; and (2) the offender could have been charged with other violent crimes such as homicide that would be compensable under the Act.

II. ANALYSIS

This is a tragic case. By all accounts a wonderful young girl dies as a result of a drug addiction fueled by a drug dealer who preyed upon her weakness.

In order to prevail on application under the Crime Victim's Compensation Act, a Claimant must establish that he/she: (1) is a victim of crime as enumerated under §2(c) of the Act, (740 ILCS 45/2); (2) fulfill the conditions of §45/6.1 of the Act, (740 ILCS 45/6.1); and (3) suffered damages proximately caused from the crime, (Larsen v. State of Illinois, 52 Ill. Ct. Cl. 644 (2000)). Claimant bears the burden of proving that one of the crimes specifically enumerated under §2(c) under the Act was committed. A Drug Induced Homicide is not compensable under the Act.

It is the province of the legislature and not this Court to amend the governing statute to afford compensation under such circumstances.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Court's February 25, 2008 order denying the claim is upheld. The claim is denied.

OPINION

STORINO, J.

This claim arises out of an incident that occurred on Saturday, June 23, 2007. The claimant, Don Noble, seeks compensation pursuant to the provisions of the Crime Victims Compensation Act, hereafter referred to as the Act, 740 ILCS 45/1, et seq. (2000).

This Court has carefully considered the application for benefits submitted on Friday, June 26, 2009, on the form prescribed by the Illinois Attorney General, and an investigatory report of the Illinois Attorney General which substantiates matters set forth in the application. Based upon these documents and other evidence submitted to the Illinois Attorney General's Office, the Court finds:

1. That on Saturday, June 23, 2007, the claimant, Don Noble, age 48, was a victim of a violent crime as defined in §2(c) of the Act, to wit: Driving Under the Influence 625 ILCS 5/11-501(2000).
2. That pursuant to §6.1(a) of the Act, a person is entitled to compensation under the Act if within 2 years of the occurrence of the crime, or within one year after a criminal indictment of a person for an offense, upon which the claim is based, an application is filed, under oath, with the Court of Claims and on a form prescribed in accordance with Section 7.1 furnished by the Attorney General. If the person entitled to compensation is under 18 years of age or under other legal disability at the time of the occurrence or becomes legally disabled as a result of the occurrence, he may file the application within two years after he attains the age of eighteen years or the disability is removed, as the case may be. Legal disability includes a diagnosis of posttraumatic stress disorder.
3. That the crime occurred on Saturday, June 23, 2007. The application for the crime victims compensation program was filed on June 26, 2009. Two years from the crime date was June 23, 2009. The United States Post Office cancellation mark stamped on the envelope containing the application is

June 22, 2009. “Any writing of any kind or description required or authorized to be filed with...the State...if transmitted through the United States mail, shall be deemed filed with or received by the State...on the date shown by the post office cancellation mark stamped upon the envelope or wrapper containing it;” 5 ILCS 70/1.25(1). Therefore, the claim was filed in the time frame required by §6.1(a) of the Act.

4. That the crime occurred in Stockton, Illinois, and all of the eligibility requirements of §6.1 of the Act have been met.
5. That the claimant seeks compensation for medical, hospital and accessibility expenses.
6. That the claimant’s private insurance assumed responsibility for the claimant’s medical, hospital and accessibility expenses with the exception of $5,622.96, for which the claimant is responsible and which the claimant has paid.
7. That the court has ordered the offender to pay restitution to the claimant in the amount of $3,700.00. To date, the claimant has not received any payments. In the event that restitution is received, the claimant shall notify the Attorney General’s office of those payments pursuant to §17 of the Act.
8. That the claimant has complied with all pertinent provisions of the Act and qualifies for compensation there under.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the sum of $5,622.96 (FIVE THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED TWENTY-TWO DOLLARS AND NINETY-SIX CENTS) be and is hereby awarded to Don Noble, an innocent victim of a violent crime.
